No Delusion That War Could Immediately Be Made a ...ing of Past Through Arbitration Announces Ideas After Reviewing Mightiest Line of Fighting Craft Ever Assembled Under American Flag Huge Vessels Show Prowess in Cramped Quarters and in Face of a Strong Wind and Tide

W YORK, Nov. 2.—Fresh from oss-continent tour of 13,000 miles, g which he received senatorial es which seem to indicate the ratification of the arbitration es with Great Britain and e, President Taft, from the wind- bridge of the historic little r-yacht Mayflower, reviewed the iest line of fighting craft ever ibled under the American flag.

president had indicated in all hes in advocacy of the treaties of that he entertained no fond de- that war, by convention, could diately be made a thing of the He had declared the treaties a step in the right direction; that rmed camps of Europe were look- o the United States to lead in might prove to be a great world ment toward the goal of peace, hat for a long time to come the istion of disarmament would have rce.

ntless thousands of people joined the president in paying tribute to ivescore vessels which lay at r in the Hudson.

24 First-Class Ships in Line.

enty-four first-class battleships in the line, stately gray in their readiness for war, and with ammunition rooms fairly bursting under weight of millions of pounds of er and shell. Surrounding this column were armored cruisers, ng but little in power and weight eir formidable sisters of the battle- p class; scout cruisers, slender, ast; meteorlike destroyers, green s of the sea; lithe torpedo boats seemed spiderlike in their stealth; arines, barely visible above the line, and the rank and file of lary vessels, that served as ten- to the fleet. There were 99 in all, riginal plan of having 102 ships in line having been curtailed by the absence of three torpedo boats.

As if the exhibition of preparedness and power pictured in the anchored armada were not all-sufficient, 22 of the battleships, toward the close of the day, picked up their anchors, turned in the teeth of the gale and swept proudly out to sea. The president watched the passing pageant in silence.

As the big fighting steamships steamed by, with foam-crested waves spreading from their armored bows, and with clouds of smoke swirling from their funnels, the sun was near its setting, and they spoke with crashing guns the last of a long series of salutes which had begun with the early morning and had been all but incessant throughout the day.

Most Brilliant in History.

The review had been the most brilliant in the history of the nation, and with its conclusion, the great fleet had dispersed, the various ships wending their way to home stations to await the call to winter maneuvers in southern waters.

The setting for the review was a splendid, natural marine amphitheater. The fleet lay on the broad bosom of the Hudson, walled in on either side by the towering buildings of Riverside drive and the precipitous cliffs of the New Jersey palisades.

The day was one of changing sunshine and shadow. Out of the northwest there blew a gale which at times attained 50 miles an hour, and brought with it the chill of winter.

The morning had dawned humid and cloudy, and when the waiting ships at 8 o'clock had decked themselves in the rainbow flags of "full dress," the varicolored pennants fluttered lazily in an eight-mile breeze.

Within an hour and a half, a gale had swept in with all its force and had sent the clouds scurrying away before it. In the dazzling sunshine that followed the fleet flags were whipped into a riotous fury. From this time until the day was ended, great, new cloud banks, caught in the north, were driven intermittently across the skies, adding their share to the picturesqueness of the scene. One of the cloud banks brought a flurry of snow, the first of the season here. But neither the chill blasts nor the constantly recurring threat of storm deterred the spectators, who stretched for miles along the river banks and crowded the decks of excursion steamers.

One Seaman Drowns.

There was one fatality during the day. Gustav Frey, a seaman on the battleship New Jersey, fell overboard and was drowned.

The news had not reached the president, when he left tonight for Hot Springs, Va., to spend four days in recreation before resuming the final stage of his trip through Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The president arrived from the west shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and at once went aboard the Mayflower where later he was joined by Secretary of the Navy Meyer and the latter's staff, Rear Admirals Wainwright, Potter and Vreeland, Captains Fletcher and Potts, and Commander Philip Andrews.

The president was attended by Major Archibald W. Butt and two of his naval aides, Lieutenant Commander L. C. Palmer and Lieutenant A. L. Bristol. Secretary Hilles was included in the party and at the last minute there was a slight relaxation in the official character of the review which permitted Mr. Taft to entertain on board his brother, Henry W. Taft and the latter's wife.

The ceremonies formally began at

LEADING LAWYERS WILL BE ENGAGED

Notable Array Legal Talent on Both Sides Test Case as to Court Appeals

The hearing of the quo warranto proceedings brought in the name of the Colorado Bar association to test the legality of the court of appeals created by the last legislature and appointed by Governor Shafroth, will bring together perhaps the greatest array of legal talent ever figuring in a single case in Colorado.

This is indicated by the names presented to Henry C. Hall of this city, president of the association, by the members of the new court as their selections for counsel to present their side of the case before the supreme court.

The men named, all leaders in the legal firmament of the state, are former Gov. Charles S. Thomas, T. J. O'Donnell, Edwin Van Cise, N. Walter Dixon, James J. Banks, Henry McAllister, Jr., and Judge J. C. Helm. They will be opposed by an equally brilliant aggregation of lawyers, including former Judge Jesse G. Northcutt of Trinidad, Senator James W. McCreary of Greeley, Caldwell Yeaman of Denver and former Attorneys General N. C. Miller and John T. Barnett, already named by President Hall to represent the association, together with Attorney General Ben Griffith, who brought the proceedings.

The presentation of the names for counsel by the new court was upon the invitation of the bar association, through the committee, headed by President Hall and including Dunbar F. Carpenter of this city, which first proposed that these proceedings be instituted, and secured permission from the supreme court to present a quo warranto petition.

Is Friendly Suit.

This situation is made possible by the fact that the proceedings are of the most friendly nature and designed simply to determine the legality of the new court as at present constituted, in order to avoid the possibility that its decisions might subsequently be thrown out on the ground that it was without authority.

The need of such a court is recognized generally as most imperative in order that the supreme court may be relieved of its present congestion and

FIND PART OF BANK LOOT

$25,000 of Money Taken From Canadian Depository Under Sidewalk, Near Scene of Crime

NEW MINISTER, B. C., Nov. 2.—Twenty-five thousand dollars in gold and bank notes, identified as part of the loot stolen from the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, September 15, was found by workmen today under a sidewalk a few blocks from the scene of the robbery. When the bank was robbed, $235,000 in gold and Canadian notes were stolen. The money found today is the first of the loot recovered. None of the bank robbers has been captured.

IEN DEGREES ABOVE ZERO

The lowest temperature of the winter in Colorado Springs was experienced yesterday when the mercury fell to 10 degrees above zero and the day was made more disagreeable by the exceedingly high humidity of 93, caused by the melting snow. The maximum temperature was 17 degrees.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—A cold wave has tightened its grip on the country from the Rocky mountains eastward to New England and southward as far as northern Texas and across the gulf states to northern Florida. Temperatures below freezing were reported from most of this territory today, and the weather bureau officials said there appeared to be no warmer weather in sight for a couple of days at least.

The first zero weather of the autumn was reported from Huron, S. D.

Northern Texas, snow visited, is experiencing the coldest weather on record for the season. At Amarillo it was 16, and at Abilene 32 degrees above zero.

Fifty Men in Bucket Brigade Fight Calhan Fire for Many Hours

Three one-story frame buildings on Kansas street, Calhan, were completely destroyed by fire at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. A defective flue is supposed to have caused the blaze. The loss is estimated at $5,000, with less than half covered by insurance.

The buildings burned were the Howard bakery and restaurant, owned by James Howard; Morrison's pool hall and a vacant building owned by L. E. Smith. The fixtures in the pool hall are the only contents saved in any of the buildings.

A number of young men had been "batching it" in one of the rooms of the vacant building, and it is thought that the fire was started by a defective flue in this room. It was some time before the flames were noticed, and even then little could be done to extinguish them. About 50 men formed a bucket brigade, and water was carried in three-gallon buckets from nearby wells for several hours.

When it was seen that the buildings could not be saved, the volunteers turned their efforts to the Henbest building, a two-story cement block building, just across the alley from the row of burned store rooms. It was only after a long and hard fight that the flames were kept from destroying it also.

Bryan Hopes La Follette Will Win If Democrats Do Not Elect President

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—"Although prospects of a Democratic victory in the next national election are bright," said William Jennings Bryan in an address in the interest of Joseph Taggart's candidacy for congress, in Kansas City, Kan., tonight, "I have seen them brighter. If the Republicans must elect a president, I want them to elect a progressive. Such a man is Senator La Follette.

"If I was right sure the Democrats would elect their candidate for president the next time, I would not care about the Republican candidate," said Mr. Bryan. "Although prospects are bright for a Democratic president, it has been my experience that prospects are a deception.

"La Follette is a real progressive. I would like to see him nominated by the Republicans. I believe he would poll more votes than would President Taft."

Uses Teeth to Explode Percussion Cap Attached to Dynamite Under Head

ASPEN, Colo., Nov. 2.—Placing a stick of dynamite under his head and exploding the percussion cap with a snap of his teeth, Frank Srasson, 86 years old, today blew off his head. Srasson divorced his wife recently and his domestic troubles are believed to have been the reason for his taking his life. Srasson is said to have been possessed of considerable wealth at one time but to have lost much of his fortune in mining operations in the Cripple Creek district. He came here from Victor about 10 years ago.

W. C. T. U. LEADER BUYS CIGARETTES

Then Shows Milwaukee Mayor and Police Chief How Law Is Violated

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2.—Following the purchase of a package of cigarettes by Mrs. E. B. Ingalls of St. Louis, Mo., a national superintendent of the department of antinarcotics, W. C. T. U., a local campaign for the enforcement of the Wisconsin anticigarette law was started today.

Mrs. Ingalls sauntered nonchalantly into a store on Third street and calmly purchased a package of cigarettes. She then went to the city hall and called on Mayor Seidel.

"Why cannot the anticigarette law be enforced in this city?" she asked.

"It can be enforced," responded the mayor, and then he proceeded to interrogate his visitor, finally referring Mrs. Ingalls to the chief of police.

When Mrs. Ingalls, accompanied by two other temperance workers called on Chief of Police Janssen they were informed by the chief that his officers would look after any violators of the law.

The most important report to come before the National W. C. T. U. convention its closing day was that from the department of peace and arbitration by Mrs. Hanna G. Bailey of Maine. The convention finally adjourned tonight to meet in Portland, Ore., next year.

HOTEL MEN INDORSE INFORMATION BUREAU

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Unqualified indorsement of the information bureau was given by the Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's association in resolutions adopted today at the first session of its eleventh annual convention.

The bureau, started as an experiment a year or two ago, has proved itself a great success it was declared and the resolutions adopted today contemplate the extension of the system into a string of bureaus to stretch across the country.

Attendance at the convention is the largest in the history of the organization. In addition to members themselves representatives of a dozen or more hotel men's associations in various parts of the country are here as guests of the Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's association.

U. P. RY. PLEDGES $2,500

Marks Opening of Subscriptions to Fund to Bring Political Conventions to Denver

DENVER, Nov. 2.—A pledge of $2,500 from the Union Pacific railroad marked the opening today of subscriptions to the fund to secure the Republican or Democratic national conventions, or both, by Denver. The subscription was made by Garret Fort, passenger traffic manager of the road who is here attending the Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's association convention.

WASHINGTON IS COMING TO LIFE

MEMBERS NATIONAL CONGRESS RETURN SOON

Probe Committees Begin Work Early—Political Activity Not Lacking

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Political activity will characterize the return of members of the senate and house to Washington during the early part of November. Elections in several states next week will terminate congressional and state contests and many congressional leaders are expected to reach Washington before November 15.

On that date the senate committee on interstate commerce will begin hearings on trust legislation. The so-called steel trust and sugar trust investigations, the inquiry into state department matters, and the work of other special committees will be in full swing two weeks before congress opens.

Members of the house committee on appropriations will sail for Panama on November 9 to investigate the needs of the canal. Members of the senate appropriations committee are already in Panama. The congressional employers liability and workmen's compensation committee will resume hearings here next Monday. The national monetary commission will meet in a month to consider its final report to congress, which must be made on January 8.

Charles D. Hilles, secretary to President Taft, and a possible choice for the chairmanship of the National Republican committee, Vice President Sherman, Representative McKinley of Illinois, chairman of the National Congressional committee and other Republican leaders will discuss national Republican campaign matters before the meeting of the national committee which is scheduled December 12. The Democratic National committee will meet January 8.

COLORADO SUFFRAGISTS NOT AFRAID OF WEATHER

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Despite freezing winter and wintry wind, 1,000 or more Colorado suffragists turned out tonight to take part in an automobile parade through the streets of Denver in celebration of the recent victory of women's suffrage in California. Decorated automobiles, representing the six equal suffrage states, each floating a banner bearing the number of stars denoting the order in which that state entered the ranks of equal suffrage, were a feature of the parade. At the conclusion of which the sixth star was affixed to the California banner with due ceremony.

Prominent in the parade and in the exercise which followed was Miss Gail Laughlin, the Colorado suffragist whose work in the California campaign had much to do with the victory of the women there.

At a banquet which concluded the celebration Congressman A. W. Rucker of Colorado declared himself in favor of an amendment to the federal constitution granting equal suffrage throughout the country.

METHODIST WOMEN FAVOR PROTESTANT FEDERATION

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—A plan of federation of the women's missionary societies of all the Protestant churches of the United States on the basis of a general federation of women's clubs, was adopted by the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church at the concluding session of the 10 days' convention today.

They recommended that the national headquarters be in Chicago and that the national commission meet biannually. This committee is to be constituted either on a basis of membership or receipts, or by allowing one representative from each denomination.

The plan of federation will be forwarded to the Central Study commission of Boston, where it will be considered with the plans of federation sent in by the other Protestant denominational women's bodies in the United States.

Woman Suspected of Wholesale Murders Complains of Pains

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Within a few hours of the promised delivery to the coroner of a report that will bring to a climax or anticlimax the suspicion aroused in the minds of the police by the death of her roomer, Policeman Arthur Bissonette and by the previous deaths of eight other relatives or acquaintances, Mrs. Louise Vermalyia surprised the detectives guarding her in her home, by the request that a lawyer be summoned to draw her will. She said she was suffering from the same kind of pains in the stomach that had preceded the death of the nine.

The report of toxicologist, Walter Haines, who examined the viscera of the policeman for traces of poison or other indications of the cause of his death, has not yet been received.

An attorney was summoned, but he said he would not have the will ready for signature until tomorrow noon. The detectives asked for a constant guard of trained nurses and their superior officer prepared to establish such a watch

IS IN FAVOR OF SCIENTIFIC SYSTEM

Secretary of War Convinced Government Workshop Expenses Can Be Cut

NO HARDSHIPS TO LABOR

Declares in Statement That "Taylor Plan" Would Only Benefit Workingmen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—"Scientific shop management" today received the indorsement of the United States government. Secretary of War Stimson is convinced of the desirability and advantages, and basing his conviction on a report made by Brig. Gen. William M. Crozier, chief of ordnance, which was made public today.

The secretary is satisfied that its introduction into government workshops would work no hardships to labor.

"It means a betterment, and in no wise an impairment of the conditions of labor," he declared in a statement.

The report has been awaited by organized labor and the employers of labor with much interest. It is generally believed that the question will be one that will figure largely in the coming national political campaign, and for this reason, especially, General Crozier's findings are regarded as being of unusual import, as are the comments of Secretary Stimson. In making public General Crozier's report, the secretary says:

"As set forth in detailed statement, which I have made public today, the war department has given considerable attention to the utilization of the methods of scientific management in the various arsenal shops of the government. The Watertown arsenal has been used practically as an experiment station, with a view of trying out the theory before applying it generally. The results thus far are highly gratifying and full of promise.

Benefit to Workingmen.

"There has been an undoubted increase in the efficiency of the workmen at the shop and a material reduction in the cost of men, but at the same time, and, to my mind, even of greater importance, these results have been obtained without in any wise endangering the rights of the workingmen, either by decreasing their pay or requiring unpleasant exertion or 'speeding up.' On the contrary, any increase in the real efficiency must revert to the benefit of the workingmen.

"I have been too long and vitally interested in movements which make for the improvements in conditions of labor for me not to lend even the slightest encouragement to any theories which work counter to the true interests of labor.

"To my mind, 'scientific management' can and deserves to prevail only where increased efficiency means increased human efficiency and the workingmen's participation in the rewards resulting from efficiency. It seems of the betterment, and in no wise impairment, in the conditions of labor. A change for making betterment is the only kind of change which the government will permit through the installment of any 'scientific management.'

Still in Experimental Stage.

"We are still very much in the experimental stage, but I have strong hopes that by cooperation and a willingness to see the facts fairly, the

EXECUTORS OF PALMER ESTATE FILE ACCOUNT

That gratifying progress is being made toward the final settlement of the estate of the late William J. Palmer, is indicated by the second account of the executors, George Foster Peabody, Chase Mellen and George A. Krause, filed through their counsel, Henry C. Hall, in the county court yesterday.

The report, which covers the period from June 2, 1910, to May 31, 1911, contains detailed statements of all holdings, receipts and expenditures of the executors, and shows the disposition of considerable real estate. During the time covered, the executors are shown to have received from all sources $73,058.45, and paid out $15,863.77, and all debts due for payment have been met.

Considerable income-bearing property has been turned over to the daughters of the late general, as per the provisions of his will, and the executors are disposing of the remaining property as rapidly as it can be done consistently with judicious and economical management. There are still a number of suits pending in which the estate is involved, and these will be pushed to an issue with all possible speed, although it may be a considerable time before they are all disposed of. Until then the executors will not be in position to wind up the affairs of the estate.

The report was formally accepted by County Judge Little, who approved the course of the executors in every respect.

Deaths and Funerals

J. W. THATCHER DIES

J. W. Thatcher died at St. Francis hospital yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, following a short illness. He underwent an operation Monday. Mr. Thatcher was 56 years old and was well known in Colorado Springs, coming here first about 11 years ago. He removed east again, and for a second time came to Colorado Springs, living at 301 North Corona street. Besides the widow, he leaves a son, Daniel Thatcher, 115 East San Miguel street. The body will be taken to Smithville, Mo., this evening for burial.

DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Advices received from Los Angeles yesterday stated that A. C. Van Cott, for nearly 20 years a resident of this city, died in Los Angeles yesterday. From the meager reports received, it seems that heart failure was the cause, and that death was unexpected.

Mr. Van Cott was 46 years of age, and was well known in this district. For 15 years he was connected with the realty firm of Thurlow, Hutton and Williams, and was secretary of the Mary McKinney Mining company.

Five years ago Mr. Van Cott removed to Los Angeles, where, at the time of his death, he was secretary of the Commonwealth Mining company of Mexico. He came to this city from Durango, was a member of the El Paso and Pikes Peak clubs, and owned the residence property at 209 Cheyenne avenue.

No funeral arrangements have been made, pending the arrival in Los Angeles of Mr. Van Cott's mother and sister who live in New York. Besides them he is survived by his widow.

Relatives of the late S. R. Allen are expected to arrive in Colorado Springs today, to make final arrangements for the funeral services. Mr. Allen died suddenly of apoplexy Tuesday night at his home, 26 East Fountain street. He was an employe of the Colorado Springs & Interurban Railway company, being in charge of one of the big street sprinklers.

MAY REVOKE LICENSE

E. R. Scott, colored, proprietor of a pool room on Huerfano street, received notice from the city council yesterday to appear in police court tomorrow morning and show cause why his pool room license should not be revoked. Scott and five other negroes were arrested Saturday night on a charge of gambling and permitting gambling. Chief Burno pointed out that convictions cannot be secured in police court when the value of playing chips is not known. He hopes to stamp out gambling in various places about town by having pool room licenses canceled. Mayor Avery expressed satisfaction at Chief Burno's desire to break up the practice, saying that he will support Burno in similar recommendations to the city council.

No Delusion That War Could Immediately Be Made a hing of Past Through Arbitration Announces Ideas After Reviewing Mightiest Line of Fighting Craft Ever Assembled Under American Flag Huge Vessels Show Prowess in Cramped Quarters and in Face of a Strong Wind and Tide

W YORK, Nov. 2.—Fresh from ross-continent tour of 13,000 miles, g which he received senatorial es which seem to indicate the ratification of the arbitration les with Great Britain and ce, President Taft, from the wind- bridge of the historic little er-yacht Mayflower, reviewed the ttest line of fighting craft ever nbled under the American flag. s president had indicated in all lies in advocacy of the treaties of that he entertained no fond de- a that war, by convention, could diately be made a thing of the He had declared the treaties a step in the right direction; that rmed camps of Europe were look- to the United States to lead in might prove to be a great world ment toward the goal of peace, that for a long time to come the estion of disarmament would have orce.

day Mr. Taft let it be known that could continue to urge upon con- the necessity of building at least superdreadnoughts a year until the ma canal is in actual operation. canal, he declared, would double efficiency of the navy, and from time on one battleship a year t suffice to keep the American in the forefront of the world's ary powers.

ntless thousands of people joined the president in paying tribute to fivescore vessels which lay at or in the Hudson.

24 First-Class Ships in Line.

enty-four first-class battleships in the line, stately gray in their aredness for war, and with am- ition rooms fairly bursting under weight of millions of pounds of let and shell. Surrounding this column were armored cruisers, ing but little in power and weight eir formidable sisters of the bat- ip class; scout cruisers, slender, fast; meteorlike destroyers, green s of the sea; lithe torpedo boats, seemed spiderlike in their stealth; arines, barely visible above the r line, and the rank and file of liary vessels, that served as ten- to the fleet. There were 99 in all, original plan of having 102 ships in line having been curtailed by the absence of three torpedo boats.

As if the exhibition of preparedness and power pictured in the anchored armada were not all-sufficient, 22 of the battleships, toward the close of the day, picked up their anchors, turned in the teeth of the gale and swept proudly out to sea. The president watched the passing pageant in silence.

As the big fighting steamships steamed by, with foam-crested waves spreading from their armored bows, and with clouds of smoke swirling from their funnels, the sun was near its setting, and they spoke with crashing guns the last of a long series of salutes which had begun with the early morning and had been all but incessant throughout the day.

Most Brilliant in History.

The review had been the most brilliant in the history of the nation, and with its conclusion, the great fleet had dispersed, the various ships wending their way to home stations to await the call to winter maneuvers in southern waters.

The setting for the review was a splendid, natural marine amphitheater. The fleet lay on the broad bosom of the Hudson, walled in on either side by the towering buildings of Riverside drive and the precipitous cliffs of the New Jersey palisades.

The day was one of changing sunshine and shadow. Out of the northwest there blew a gale which at times attained 50 miles an hour, and brought with it the chill of winter.

The morning had dawned humid and cloudy, and when the waiting ships at 8 o'clock had decked themselves in the rainbow flags of "full dress," the varicolored pennants fluttered lazily in an eight-mile breeze.

Within an hour and a half, a gale had swept in with all its force and had sent the clouds scurrying away before it. In the dazzling sunshine that followed the fleet, flags were whipped into a riotous fury. From this time until the day was ended, great, new cloud banks, caught in the north, were driven intermittently across the skies, adding their share to the picturesqueness of the scene. One of the cloud banks brought a flurry of snow, the first of the season here. But neither the chill blasts nor the constantly recurring threat of storm deterred the spectators, who stretched for miles along the river banks and crowded the decks of excursion steamers.

One Seaman Drowns.

There was one fatality during the day. Gustav Frey, a seaman on the battleship New Jersey, fell overboard and was drowned.

The news had not reached the president, when he left tonight for Hot Springs, Va., to spend four days in recreation before resuming the final stage of his trip through Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The president arrived from the west shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and at once went aboard the Mayflower where later he was joined by Secretary of the Navy Meyer and the latter's staff, Rear Admirals Wainwright, Potter and Vreeland, Captains Fletcher and Potts, and Commander Philip Andrews.

The president was attended by Major Archibald W. Butt and two of his naval aides, Lieutenant Commander L. C. Palmer and Lieutenant A. L. Bristol. Secretary Hilles was included in the party and at the last minute there was a slight relaxation in the official character of the review which permitted Mr. Taft to entertain on board his brother, Henry W. Taft and the latter's wife.

The ceremonies formally began at

NTIFIES ROLL CALL ON HOUSE BILL NO. 200

Gov. Fitzgerrald Says One Shown n Road Case Was Taken on Third Reading

NVER, Nov. 2.—Whether the te journal can be corrected of the mony of those who helped to make r must stand as attested to day after it is compiled, is the pivot hich swings the case of the com- ioners of Prowers county to com- state Auditor Leddy to honor war- drawn against the county's share e highway appropriation allotted under the terms of house bill No. which it is contended, has been lidated by the failure of the sen- journal to show the rollcall on vote by which the measure finally ed the senate.

torney General Griffith, represent- he state auditor, today argued that prescribed by statute that each record shall be attested directly compiled and that there is every on to believe that this was done in case of house bill No. 200. Cor- on, is is contended, is no longer issible. The record shows the roll- to have been omitted and this laimed, is final and binding.

torneys for the commis- ers contended that the rollcall had taken and that its omission from senate records is due to a clerical r. In support of their claim they on the stand Lieutenant Governor rrald who identified the rollcall vidence as the one taken on the l reading of the measure in ques-

FADING LAWYERS WILL BE ENGAGED

Notable Array Legal Talent on Both Sides Test Case as to Court Appeals

The hearing of the quo warranto proceedings brought in the name of the Colorado Bar association to test the legality of the court of appeals created by the last legislature and appointed by Governor Shafroth, will bring together perhaps the greatest array of legal talent ever figuring in a single case in Colorado.

This is indicated by the names presented to Henry C. Hall of this city, president of the association, by the members of the new court as their selections for counsel to present their side of the case before the supreme court.

The men named, all leaders in the legal firmament of the state, are former Gov. Charles S. Thomas, T. J. O'Donnell, Edwin Van Cise, N. Walter Dixon, James J. Banks, Henry McAllister, Jr., and Judge J. C. Helm. They will be opposed by an equally brilliant aggregation of lawyers, including former Judge Jesse G. Northcutt of Trinidad, Senator James W. McCreary of Greeley, Caldwell Yeaman of Denver and former Attorneys General N. C. Miller and John T. Barnett, already named by President Hall to represent the association, together with Attorney General Ben Griffith, who brought the proceedings.

The presentation of the names for counsel by the new court was upon the invitation of the bar association, through the committee, headed by President Hall and including Dunbar F. Carpenter of this city, which first proposed that these proceedings be instituted, and secured permission from the supreme court to present a quo warranto petition.

Is Friendly Suit.

This situation is made possible by the fact that the proceedings are of the most friendly nature and designed simply to determine the legality of the new court as at present constituted, in order to avoid the possibility that its decisions might subsequently be thrown out on the ground that it was without authority.

The need of such a court is recognized generally as most imperative in order that the supreme court may be relieved of its present congestion and

When the bank was robbed, $335,000 in gold and Canadian notes were stolen. The money found today is the first of the loot recovered. None of the bank robbers has been captured.

Fifty Men in Bucket Brigade Fight Calhan Fire for Many Hours

Three one-story frame buildings on Kansas street, Calhan, were completely destroyed by fire at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. A defective flue is supposed to have caused the blaze. The loss is estimated at $5,000, with less than half covered by insurance.

The buildings burned were the Howard bakery and restaurant, owned by James Howard; Morrison's pool hall and a vacant building owned by L. E. Smith. The fixtures in the pool hall are the only contents saved in any of the buildings.

A number of young men had been "batching it" in one of the rooms of the vacant building, and it is thought that the fire was started by a defective flue in this room. It was some time before the flames were noticed, and even then little could be done to extinguish them. About 50 men formed a bucket brigade, and water was carried in three-gallon buckets from nearby wells for several hours.

When it was seen that the buildings could not be saved, the volunteers turned their efforts to the Henbest building, a two-story cement block building, just across the alley from the row of burned store rooms. It was only after a long and hard fight that the flames were kept from destroying it also.

Bryan Hopes La Follette Will Win If Democrats Do Not Elect President

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—"Although prospects of a Democratic victory in the next national election are bright," said William Jennings Bryan in an address in the interest of Joseph Taggart's candidacy for congress, in Kansas City, Kan., tonight, "I have seen them brighter. If the Republicans must elect a president, I want them to elect a progressive. Such a man is Senator La Follette.

"If I was right sure the Democrats would elect their candidate for president the next time, I would not care about the Republican candidate," said Mr. Bryan. "Although prospects are bright for a Democratic president, it has been my experience that prospects are a deception.

"La Follette is a real progressive. I would like to see him nominated by the Republicans. I believe he would poll more votes than would President Taft."

Uses Teeth to Explode Percussion Cap Attached to Dynamite Under Head

ASPEN, Colo., Nov. 2.—Placing a stick of dynamite under his head and exploding the percussion cap with a snap of his teeth, Frank Srasson, 86 years old, today blew off his head. Srasson divorced his wife recently and his domestic troubles are believed to have been the reason for his taking his life. Srasson is said to have been possessed of considerable wealth at one time but to have lost much of his fortune in mining operations in the Cripple Creek district. He came here from Victor about 10 years ago.

W. C. T. U. LEADER BUYS CIGARETTES

Then Shows Milwaukee Mayor and Police Chief How Law Is Violated

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2.—Following the purchase of a package of cigarettes by Mrs. E. P. Ingalls of St. Louis, Mo., a national superintendent of the department of antinarcotics, W. C. T. U., a local campaign for the enforcement of the Wisconsin anticigarette law was started today.

Mrs. Ingalls sauntered nonchalantly into a store on Third street and calmly purchased a package of cigarettes. She then went to the city hall and called on Mayor Seidel.

"Why cannot the anticigarette law be enforced in this city?" she asked.

"It can be enforced," responded the mayor, and then he proceeded to interrogate his visitor, finally referring Mrs. Ingalls to the chief of police.

When Mrs. Ingalls, accompanied by two other temperance workers called on Chief of Police Janssen, they were informed by the chief that his officers would look after any violators of the law.

The most important report to come before the National W. C. T. U. convention its closing day was that from the department of peace and arbitration by Mrs. Hanna G. Bailey of Maine. The convention finally adjourned tonight to meet in Portland, Ore., next year.

HOTEL MEN INDORSE INFORMATION BUREAU

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Unqualified indorsement of the information bureau was given by the Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's association in resolutions adopted today at the first session of its eleventh annual convention.

The bureau, started as an experiment a year or two ago, has proved itself a great success it was declared and the resolutions adopted today contemplate the extension of the system into a string of bureaus to stretch across the country.

Attendance at the convention is the largest in the history of the organization. In addition to members themselves representatives of a dozen or more hotel men's associations in various parts of the country, are here as guests of the Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's association.

U. P. RY. PLEDGES $2,500

Marks Opening of Subscriptions to Fund to Bring Political Conventions to Denver

DENVER, Nov. 2.—A pledge of $2,500 from the Union Pacific railroad marked the opening today of subscriptions to the fund to secure the Republican or Democratic national conventions, or both, by Denver. The subscription was made by Garret Fort, passenger traffic manager of the road who is here attending the Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's association convention.

WASHINGTON IS COMING TO LIFE

MEMBERS NATIONAL CONGRESS RETURN SOON

Probe Committees Begin Work Early—Political Activity Not Lacking

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Political activity will characterize the return of members of the senate and house to Washington during the early part of November. Elections in several states next week will terminate congressional and state contests and many congressional leaders are expected to reach Washington before November 15.

On that date the senate committee on interstate commerce will begin hearings on trust legislation. The so-called steel trust and sugar trust investigations, the inquiry into state department matters, and the work of other special committees will be in full swing two weeks before congress opens.

Members of the house committee on appropriations will sail for Panama on November 9 to investigate the needs of the canal. Members of the senate appropriations committee are already in Panama. The congressional employers liability and workmen's compensation committee will resume hearings here next Monday. The national monetary commission will meet in a month to consider its final report to congress, which must be made on January 8.

Charles D. Hilles, secretary to President Taft, and a possible choice for the chairmanship of the National Republican committee, Vice President Sherman, Representative McKinley of Illinois, chairman of the National Congressional committee and other Republican leaders will discuss national Republican campaign matters before the meeting of the national committee which is scheduled December 12. The Democratic National committee will meet January 8.

COLORADO SUFFRAGISTS NOT AFRAID OF WEATHER

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Despite freezing winter and wintry wind, 1,000 or more Colorado suffragists turned out tonight to take part in an automobile parade through the streets of Denver in celebration of the recent victory of woman's suffrage in California. Decorated automobiles, representing the six equal suffrage states, each floating a banner bearing the number of stars denoting the order in which that state entered the ranks of equal suffrage, were a feature of the parade, at the conclusion of which the sixth star was affixed to the California banner with due ceremony.

Prominent in the parade and in the exercise which followed was Miss Gail Laughlin, the Colorado suffragist whose work in the California campaign had much to do with the victory of the women there.

At a banquet which concluded the celebration Congressman A. W. Rucker of Colorado declared himself in favor of an amendment to the federal constitution granting equal suffrage throughout the country.

METHODIST WOMEN FAVOR PROTESTANT FEDERATION

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—A plan of federation of the women's missionary societies of all the Protestant churches of the United States on the basis of a general federation of women's clubs, was adopted by the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church at the concluding session of the 10 days' convention today.

They recommended that the national headquarters be in Chicago and that the national commission meet biannually. This committee is to be constituted either on a basis of membership or receipts, or by allowing one representative from each denomination.

The plan of federation will be forwarded to the Central Study commission of Boston, where it will be considered with the plans of federation sent in by the other Protestant denominational women's bodies in the United States.

Woman Suspected of Wholesale Murders Complains of Pains

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Within a few hours of the promised delivery to the coroner of a report that will bring to a climax or anticlimax the suspicion aroused in the minds of the police by the death of her roomer, Policeman Arthur Bissonette and by the previous deaths of eight other relatives or acquaintances, Mrs. Louise Vermalyia surprised the detectives guarding her in her home by the request that a lawyer be summoned to draw her will. She said she was suffering from the same kind of pains in the stomach that had preceded the death of the nine.

The report of toxicologist, Walt. Haines, who examined the viscera of the policeman for traces of poison or other indications of the cause of his death, has not yet been received.

An attorney was summoned, but he said he would not have the will ready for signature until tomorrow noon. The detectives asked for a constant guard of trained nurses and their superior officer prepared to establish such a watch.

IS IN FAVOR OF SCIENTIFIC SYSTEM

Secretary of War Convinced Government Workshop Expenses Can Be Cut

NO HARDSHIPS TO LABOR

Declares in Statement That "Taylor Plan" Would Only Benefit Workingmen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—"Scientific shop management" today received the indorsement of the United States government. Secretary of War Stimson is convinced of the desirability and advantages, and basing his conviction on a report made by Brig. Gen. William M. Crozier, chief of ordnance, which was made public today.

The secretary is satisfied that its introduction into government workshops would work no hardships to labor.

"It means betterment, and in no wise an impairment, of the conditions of labor," he declared in a statement.

The report has been awaited by organized labor and the employers of labor with much interest. It is generally believed that the question will be one that will figure largely in the coming national political campaign, and for this reason especially, General Crozier's findings are regarded as being of unusual import, as are the comments of Secretary Stimson. In making public General Crozier's report, the secretary says:

"As set forth in detailed statement, which I have made public today, the war department has given considerable attention to the utilization of the methods of scientific management in the various arsenal shops of the government. The Watertown arsenal has been used practically as an experiment station, with a view of trying out the theory before applying it generally. The results thus far are highly gratifying and full of promise.

Benefit to Workingmen.

"There has been an undoubted increase in the efficiency of the workmen at the shop and a material reduction in the cost of men, but at the same time, and, to my mind, even of greater importance, these results have been obtained without in any wise endangering the rights of the workingmen, either by decreasing their pay or requiring unpleasant exertion or 'speeding up.' On the contrary, any increase in the real efficiency must revert to the benefit of the workingmen.

"I have been too long and vitally interested in movements which make for the improvements in conditions of labor for me not to lend even the slightest encouragement to any theories which work counter to the true interests of labor.

"To my mind, 'scientific management' can and deserves to prevail only where increased efficiency means increased human efficiency and the workingmen's participation in the rewards resulting from efficiency. It seems of the betterment, and in no wise impairment, in the conditions of labor. A change for making betterment is the only kind of change which the government will permit through the installment of any 'scientific management.'

Still in Experimental Stage.

"We are still very much in the experimental stage, but I have strong hopes that by cooperation and a willingness to see the facts fairly, the

EXECUTORS OF PALMER ESTATE FILE ACCOUNT

That gratifying progress is being made toward the final settlement of the estate of the late William J. Palmer, is indicated by the second account of the executors, George Foster Peabody, Chase Mellen and George A. Krause, filed through their counsel, Henry C. Hall, in the county court yesterday.

The report, which covers the period from June 2, 1910, to May 31, 1911, contains detailed statements of all holdings, receipts and expenditures of the executors, and shows the disposition of considerable real estate. During the time covered, the executors are shown to have received from all sources $73,058.45, and paid out $15,863.77, and all debts due for payment have been met.

Considerable income-bearing property has been turned over to the daughters of the late general, as per the provisions of his will, and the executors are disposing of the remaining property as rapidly as it can be done consistently with judicious and economical management. There are still a number of suits pending in which the estate is involved, and these will be pushed to an issue with all possible speed, although it may be a considerable time before they are all disposed of. Until then the executors will not be in position to wind up the affairs of the estate.

The report was formally accepted by County Judge Little, who approved the course of the executors in every respect.

TEN DEGREES ABOVE ZERO

The lowest temperature of the winter in Colorado Springs was experienced yesterday when the mercury fell to 10 degrees above zero and the day was made more disagreeable by the exceedingly high humidity of 93, caused by the melting snow. The maximum temperature was 17 degrees.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—A cold wave has tightened its grip on the country from the Rocky mountains eastward to New England and southward as far as northern Texas and across the gulf states to northern Florida. Temperatures below freezing were reported from most of this territory today, and the weather bureau officials said there appeared to be no warmer weather in sight for a couple of days at least.

The first zero weather of the autumn was reported from Huron, S. D.

Northern Texas, snow visited, is experiencing the coldest weather on record for the season. At Amarillo it was 16, and at Abilene 32 degrees above zero.

METHODIST BISHOPS HEAR OF WORK IN PHILIPPINES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 2.—The bishops of the Methodist church in conclave here spent the greater part of today's session in hearing a report of Bishop F. W. McDowell, who told of his recent visit to the far east. Tonight the visitors were dined at the residence of Bishop ....

"No one can go into the Philippine Islands," said Bishop McDowell, "without being deeply impressed with the work the American government has done since we came into possession of the islands. The whole tone of the life of the people has been changed.

"I do not think Japan is desirous of war with any other country.

"Japan's war debt is now tremendous and increasing rather than diminishing. It would be very difficult if not impossible, for Japan to finance a war with the United States. The powers from which they have to borrow are all friendly powers.

AGAIN REFUSES BREAKFAST

U. S. Marshal Forced to Make Second Trip to Home of John D. Rockefeller

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—An invitation to breakfast with a multimillionaire did not tempt United States Marshal Henkel when he journeyed to Pocantico Hills today to serve additional papers in the government's suit against the United States Steel corporation upon John D. Rockefeller and found the oil magnate eating his morning meal.

The marshal then he returned to his office said he had declined the invitation to partake of the breakfast.

"What is it," he continued. "Now Mr. Rockefeller .... gentleman and .... would it? .... that the paper should have accompanied the .... document and expressed the hope that he was not put out about it.

"Oh, no, marshal," he said. "I know ... you have .... your line of duty. I admire a man who .... his ...."

Dillon on account of the latter's escapades with Sue Young, a chorus girl well known on the Broadway. Dillon tried to get the chorus girl to marry him at New Haven but was unsuccessful. The family of Miss Hamilton denied that an engagement ever existed between the couple, but young Dillon insisted that there was and that he caused it to be terminated.

TAXI DRIVERS LOCKED OUT

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The London taxi cab companies today decided to close their garages and lock out striking drivers until satisfactory agreements are reached.

GRAIN OPERATORS ARE GIVEN FRIGHT

Rumor That Warehouse Receipts Would Be Seized Causes Market to Drop

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Any man or set of men who buy so much grain that the price is held out of line or out of reach of buyers may be considered as acting in restraint of trade. This is the basis upon which, in the opinion of President J. C. F. Merrill of the Chicago board of trade, Washington agents are working in the investigation of an alleged corner in wheat centered at Chicago and extending from Duluth and Minneapolis to the eastern seaboard.

Although declaring that an investigation of the Chicago board of trade itself is under way to the best of his knowledge President Merrill said tonight significantly:

"I do know that the federal agents who were in LaSalle street Tuesday went to the northwest markets yesterday. This makes it look as if the department of justice considered there was some understanding between wheat owners here and at other centers."

Rumors were current till evening that a former stenographer of the weighmaster's office of the board had given evidence to the government.

According to reports, 60 per cent of the country's wheat supply is controlled by an illegal combination of speculators and 17,000,000 bushels of the total holdings of the clique are in Chicago elevators.

Has Paralyzing Effect

Threats that warehouse receipts for millions of bushels of wheat in store here might be seized as evidence in a conspiracy trial had a paralyzing effect on change today. The last few minutes of trading the market broke nearly 2 cents from top figures and closed in a whirl of excited selling within ¼c of the lowest point of the day, 95⅞ for December.

An interesting feature in connection with the grain situation perfected a deal by which millions of bushels of grain have been transferred to a group of milling interests. By the terms said to have been agreed upon the millers can remove the grain from the Armour warehouses at any time.

It is understood that the deal was negotiated on a basis that secures the milling interest against loss should the market drop before the grain is delivered. One theory is that the government proceedings were originally started with a view of heading off such a mammoth transfer of the bread supply of the United States.

About the calmest looking person in the Chicago grain trade this afternoon was President George E. Marcy of the Armour Grain company. He said:

"The government is welcome to any information concerning our business which we have. We have nothing to be ashamed of, and all any agent of the government needs to do is to tell us what he wants and we will give it to him if we have it."

Why I Lost My Job

Reasons Why Thousands Like Me Cannot Satisfy Their Employers

I believe my fate is not unlike that of thousands of other workers who daily lose their places for reasons they do not know and probably would not believe. When their last pay envelope comes along it is usually "Your services no longer required." If the truth were known the reason for their unceremonious removal would probably be that their usefulness was destroyed because of some mental worry, bodily ailment or general indisposition. These things, as we all know, are the most fruitful causes of failure in all walks of life. The battle of Waterloo was lost because of a headache. In this quick age our minds must be clear, rapid, active and free from outside influence or worry, or else we go down to failure with the throng of ... who go from one place of employment to another giving no satisfaction to others or to themselves, constantly growing older and less useful with no ambition, no will power and no hope.

Every man requires from every other man the best that is in him, but no man can ever get the best that is in himself until he is first free from all fretful indispositions and worries.

First was my trouble. I was full of troubles. That's why I lost my job. My stomach in the first place was all out of order and I was worrying about it and my mind grew heavy and slow. I made mistakes, and more ... That was the end.

There are thousands like me going about with quick lunch faces, dyspeptic manners and repulsive dispositions. No employer wants such men's services.

Take my advice. A healthy stomach is half the battle for it keeps your mind clear, and your face rosy. I have a healthy stomach now and hold a good position, and my employer is satisfied and so am I.

I started to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I was told were good for the worst cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. The first two tablets made a wonderful difference in my condition.

One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests 3,000 grains of food. The stomach doesn't have to work at all. The Tablets do all the work no matter how heavy your meal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure fresh eructations, burning sensation, bloat, irritation, loss of appetite, ... heartburn, lack of ... of memory and dyspepsia ... in their very worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry them around with you wherever you go and take them regularly after meals. Then you will realize what it is to be freed from stomach torment, and have a clear mind, a quick memory, a happy disposition, comfort and rest. Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store for 50c a box.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

EXHAUST THIRD VENIRE

Both Sides Predict McNamara Jury of 12 Will Have Been Accepted by Tomorrow Night

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Barring one man, the third venire of prospective jurors was exhausted at the close of court tonight in the McNamara murder case. Altogether 200 veniremen have been drawn so far. Of these 10 sat in the jury box tonight having accepted as to cause by both sides—a gain of one man since yesterday's session in which no talesman was passed. Counsel for both prosecution and defense renewed predictions that the entire 12 might be accepted by tomorrow night, if there were no hitch in getting more veniremen to examine.

The newcomer is M. T. McNeely, a retired tailor with a venerable beard, who credited himself on examination with more divergent sentiments than any other talesman has revealed. He is a Presbyterian, an admirer of the Merchants and Manufacturers association of Los Angeles as a builder up of the city, he has participated in strikes and as a union official has aided in directing them but he is opposed to them at all times and the state brought from him the assurance that a wide course of reading had not prejudiced him against a verdict of guilty in cases where the death penalty was involved. He is still subject to peremptory challenge if the state or the defense should desire to exercise it. It was considered unlikely tonight that the defense so desired.

Excuses Two Talesmen.

Counsel for the defense stirred up some excitement today when Judge Walter Bordwell excused two talesmen on the ground that they did not believe in convictions on circumstantial evidence where the death penalty was involved. In one of the cases the state asserted it had exercised a challenge although it admittedly was not couched in formal phrasing, but in the other the talesman was brought back and examined over protest by the defense. The incident lost significance when O. H. Hayes, the returned talesman, was excused for actual bias after he had said he believed he could not give McNamara a fair trial and Judge Bordwell said he would refrain from questioning any more jurors on that point.

Byron Lisk, the talesman under examination when court adjourned tonight, seemed to meet the approval of counsel for the defense. He and H. A. Blenkiron were the only two in the box not accepted as to cause and the defense said tonight that it had only one more question to ask Lisk.

W. H. Andrews is the sole talesman left from the third venire.

Judge Bordwell said tonight he was undecided as to when the next venire would be drawn.

Detectives Have Eyes Open.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—The outof court wrangle continued today over possession of evidence in the McNamara dynamiting case. Detectives watched the building of a trust company in which the evidence was deposited and when Frank P. Baker, county prosecutor, emerged with a suit case which he said contained papers that belonged to him personally, the detectives surrounded him.

"If anyone interferes with me he will be landed behind the bars," said Mr. Baker. He added that he believed the detectives were in the employ of the federal department of justice.

The evidence consists of books and papers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, seized in a raid on the offices of the association. By a ruling of Judge Joseph Markey of the county criminal court the evidence has been turned to the federal grand jury but a motion on behalf of the Ironworkers association for an appeal to the supreme court has been filed. Pending a hearing next Saturday the evidence is held by the trust company.

BEGIN OUSTER ARGUMENTS

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Arguments were begun in the district court today in the quo warranto proceedings brought by Frank S. Hoag against Sheridan Kendall to oust the latter from the office of state railroad commissioner. Hoag was appointed a member of the commission by Governor Shafroth under the new railroad law adopted by the Eighteenth general assembly. Kendall asserts that he was elected a member of the commission under law of 1907 at the election held last November.

The law under which Kendall was elected has since been repealed. Hoag asks the court to compel Kendall to show by what authority he is holding the place on the commission.

WABASH FACES TROUBLE

Officials for Craftsmen Say Refusal to Meet Four Cents An Hour Demand Means a Strike

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—That the Wabash railroad may be involved in a strike of shopmen was made known tonight, when officials for the Federation of Craftsmen of the Wabash system, said that negotiations with the road had reached a critical stage.

Conferences between the federation officials and officials of the railroad have occupied most of the week at Springfield, Ill. Another conference is scheduled for Monday.

The men demand a flat wage increase of 4 cents an hour. This they assert ... will do no more than bring ... the Wabash up to that of ....

Redden forgot his years of athletic inactivity and gave the ... players a demonstration of how to play end that proved the big feature of the day's practice.

WOULD LET UNCLE SAM BUILD HOUSES

Frisco Man Suggests Scheme to Monetary Commission to Help Poor People

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—A proposal that Uncle Sam go into the building and loan business as a means toward assuring the peace and prosperity of the country was one of the suggestions placed before the subcommittee of the monetary commission today at its final session in this city. I. A. Kingdon-Jones, commission agent, volunteered this idea.

At a lull in the regular proceeding of the committee Kingdon-Jones, who sat among the spectators, made it evident that he had a few remarks of which he wished to unburden himself.

"Do you wish to testify," asked Chairman Vreeland.

"Do you wish to hear from victims as well as bankers?" retorted Jones.

The chairman said that the committee wished to hear from any citizen as long as his remarks were directed toward the Aldrich currency reform plan, and Jones forthwith denounced the scheme. The bane of the country, he said, were mortgages on homes and he proposed that the government issue $5,000,000 in currency to build homes for workingmen, each home to cost not more than $2,500 and the government to be reimbursed at the rate of $20 a month.

The subcommittee gave Kingdon-Jones an attentive hearing.

Chairman Vreeland and his conferees departed for Los Angeles tonight.

The saving in time results, aside from any increased efficiency of machines, chiefly from the effect of the instructions given the workmen, by which their effort is more advantageously applied.

General Crozier declares the average premium of all machinists who have been placed on premium work in the machine shop at Watertown has been 25 per cent of their wages. In concluding his report he expresses the belief that better production can be had by proper care on the part of the management, but that continued high production is impossible without correspondingly high wages.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Nov. 2.—A representative of the machinists of the Rock Island arsenal is in Washington now to protest against the adoption of the Taylor system at the arsenal. Last winter the men held a mass meeting in Davenport and, it is said decided to strike if the Taylor system was adopted. Pressure was brought to bear at the time to postpone the application of the system to the local arsenal.

LEADING LAWYERS

the judicial business of the state brought out of its present state of chaos. The supreme court is now some five years behind in its work and the new court, of which former Senator Tully Scott of Teller county has been appointed chief justice and Louis W. Cunningham of this city is a member, was created by the legislature in response to the demand both by the bar and the public for relief from this condition. However, the act of the legislature specifically provided that the appointments made by the governor should be confirmed by the senate, and Governor Shafroth did not make his selections until after the legislature had adjourned, and has called no special session since to have them confirmed. It is feared that on this account the validity of the court may be attacked, and a serious and wholly unnecessary legal tangle would result in case it should be found illegally constituted after it had rendered decisions. To avert this contingency, the supreme court, through these proceedings, will determine in advance the status of the new court, and if the decision be adverse to the new tribunal, the legal defects can be pointed out and remedied.

The members of the court of appeals filed their answer to the quo warranto petition yesterday, and the relators have two days in which to file a reply or demurrer.

HAD BEEN DOCTORING A YEAR FOR ECZEMA

A Remarkable and Convincing Statement of the Success of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the Treatment of the Pain, Itching and Burning of Eczema

"I, the undersigned, cannot give enough praise to the Cuticura Remedies. I had been doctoring for at least a year for eczema on my foot. I had tried doctor after doctor all to no avail. When a young girl I sprained my ankle three different times, paying little or no attention to it, when five years ago a small spot showed upon my left ankle. I was worried and sent for a doctor. He said it was eczema. He drew a small bone from the ankle about the size of a match and about an inch long. The small hole grew to about the size of an appe, and the eczema spread to the knee. The doctors never could heal the hole in the ankle. The whole foot ran water all the time.

"My husband and my sons were up night and day wheeling me from one room to another in the hope of giving me some relief. I would sit for hours at a time in front of the fireplace hoping for daybreak. The pain was so intense I was almost crazy. In fact, I would lose my reason for hours at a time. One day a friend of mine dropped in to see me. No more had she glanced at my foot than she exclaimed, 'Mrs. Finnegan, why in the world don't you try the Cuticura Remedies?' Being disgusted with the doctors and their medicines, and not being able to sleep at all, I decided to give the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment a trial. After using them in three days that night I slept as sound as a silver dollar for eight long hours. I awoke in the morning with but very little pain, in fact, I thought I was in heaven. After using the Cuticura Remedies for three months I was perfectly healed to health thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I will be sixty-four years of age my next birthday, hale and hearty at present." (Signed) Mrs. Julia Finnegan, 2234 Hebert St., St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 7, 11.

BELLEW'S ILLNESS CAUSES HIS DEATH

Well-Known Actor Succumbs to Pneumonia. Talented in Many Ways

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 2.—Kyrle Bellew, one of the foremost actors of the English speaking stage, author and explorer, died here shortly after 6 o'clock this morning of pneumonia, after a brief illness. Mr. Bellew was taken ill last Friday, but although a portion of his Salt Lake engagements were canceled, his illness was not considered serious until yesterday morning, when congestion of the lungs set in.

His body will be taken to New York at noon today, accompanied by the members of The Mollusc company, in which Mr. Bellew was playing at the time he was taken ill.

In addition to his successes as a romantic actor, Mr. Bellew was a successful dramatist and adapter. He arranged and presented a successful adaptation of La Tosca, and was author of the English version of "Charlotte Corday," and other plays.

The parts played by Mr. Bellew covered a wide field, ranging from Shakespeare to modern comedy, but perhaps his greatest success was his performance of Raffles in the drama of that name. He also created the leading roles in "The Thief," "Brigadier Gerard," "A Gentleman of France," and other successes.

His private life was as varied and adventurous as the roles he presented. He was born at Calcutta, India, in 1857 of English parents, his father being the chaplain of Calcutta cathedral.

For seven years he was a cadet in the British navy, but the discovery of gold in Australia lured him from the service and he spent a number of years in Australia working as a miner at Ballarat and as a reporter on Melbourne newspapers.

Made Debut in Early '80s.

He made his stage debut at the Theater Royal in Brighton, Eng., in the early '80s and achieved immediate success. He came to America as leading man at Wallack's theater, New York. Later he became coster with Mrs. James Brown Potter in Shakespearean repertoire, completing with her a tour that embraced all the English speaking countries of the world.

In 1900 he again felt the call of adventure and headed an expedition into North Queensland which extended over two years. He returned to the stage in 1902 at the head of his own company.

His work as an explorer gained him a fellowship in the Royal Geographical society and he was a member of many clubs.

Mr. Bellew was unmarried and is survived by a sister known now as Sister Monica in a convent near Paris.

Mr. Bellew always maintained his British citizenship, his home being at Thames Field, Bray, Berkshire, England.

Kyrle Bellew, whose sudden death occurred at Salt Lake City yesterday, was a general favorite with Colorado Springs theater goers. His last appearance here was on the evening of October 26 when he presented The Mollusc, in which he was the costar with Isabel Irving.

REPRESENT WASHINGTON

Counsel From That State Join in Fight in Behalf Initiative and Referendum

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The legal host gathered in Washington to fight before the supreme court of the United States for the constitutionality of the initiative and referendum method of legislation, was augmented today by counsel representing the state of Washington. They were George H. Shibley, who designated himself as director of the American bureau of political reasearch and president of the People's Rule League of America; United States Senator Owen, designated as chairman of the national committee of the People's Rule league, and J. Harry Carne.

They sent a brief to the court, but they are not expected to participate in the oral argument.

In brief, it is said that the "lifting of the veil" in James Bryce's "American Commonwealth," in 1888, from the machine rule in this country, followed by further publicity of machine rule methods, has aroused a large proportion of the American people.

"They are thoroughly aroused, more so than when the British passed the stamp act against the colonists and began to encroach upon their liberties," says the brief.

The court is told that the people are demanding the initiative and referendum to cure the evils of machine rule.

Already 17 states, it is said, have taken to themselves, or are to vote upon, a proposal to take to themselves, an option to ballot direct upon public questions. It is argued that the question is a political one for congress to decide, and not a judicial one.

Arguments are presented with a view of showing that the method does not violate the guaranty in the federal constitution of a republican form of government states.

DUSTLESS ROADS

From the Woman's World.

Some bright day the United States will wake up and find itself running around on roads that have not a speck of dust on them. The practice of oiling roads and of treating them with other bituminous materials has grown tremendously. Already there is a great demand for information from the office of public roads in Washington on how to keep dust out of the thoroughfares of the city and the country. At present the following six classes of materials are used for this purpose.

1—Petroleums and petroleums products, including residual petroleums, fluxes, oil asphalts, and fluxed or cut back oil asphalts.

2—Maltha.

3—Asphalts and other solid native bitumins and asphaltic cements produced by fluxing them.

4—Tars and tar products.

5—Mixtures of tar with petroleum or asphalt products, bituminous emulsions and factitious asphalts.

6—Bituminous aggregates, including rock asphalts or bituminous rocks, bituminous concrete and asphalt, or other bituminous topping.

PRESIDENT WILL

9:30 o'clock when the president's flag amid a roar of guns from every vessel in the fleet was broken from the main truck of the Mayflower. The little yacht by this time had moved up close to the head of the second column of battleships and had cast anchor.

Her engines had scarcely stopped turning when half a score of sturdy little steam barges were headed for her starboard gangway.

Admirals Pay Respects.

The admirals of the fleet were on their way to pay their respects to the president. Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commander-in-chief of the fleet, sailing from the Connecticut was first to board the Mayflower. He was attended by his aides and as he passed up the gangway there was a flourish of trumpets, a ruffle of drums and a strain or two of a lively march by the marine band.

Admiral Osterhaus soon was followed by the other flag officers of the fleet, who went aboard in accord with their divisional rank. The president and Secretary Meyer stood on the quarterdeck. Mr. Taft had a cordial expression of greeting for each of the officers.

When the reception had ended and the admirals had sailed away in their barges, the president prepared to return courtesies with a call on board the Connecticut. The guns of the flagship thundered a salute as he came aboard and again when he left. It was from the Connecticut that the president got his best view of the anchored fleet.

The exchange of calls completed, the Mayflower picked up her anchors and started down the water lane formed by the battleships on her starboard quarter and the slender little destroyers to port. With the presidential flag again on the move, the saluting began anew. This time it was not in coups however. As the Mayflower's bridge cleared, the Connecticut, the flagship let go with 21 guns. Next in line was the Michigan. As the Mayflower cleared her after gangway, the Michigan took up the tribute of the speaking cannon. So it was with the Delaware, the North Dakota and the other ships down the line. Each in its turn paid compliment to the president. Mr. Taft stood on the bridge and lifted his hat as he passed the colors of the various vessels. On board each battleship and on board the destroyers the sides were manned with bluejackets, giving a living outline to the steel-belted hulls. On the quarter decks the officers, in the gold and lace of special full dress uniforms were assembled and at attention.

Bugles and Bands.

The marine guards also were drawn up on the quarter decks and the ship bands, uniformed in scarlet, stood out a bright patch of color in the grouping on the after decks.

As the president's yacht passed the battleships close aboard, there were trumpet flourishes and drum ruffles from each just before the bands crashed out with the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," from near and far there came the sound of bugles to mingle with the music of the bands and the crash of the guns. It was a spectacle that sent a thrill through all who saw and heard.

After making a round trip of the naval columns, the Mayflower drew clear of the fleet and steamed down the bay to her anchorage and there was a brief respite. The president lunched on board his yacht.

The ships had been pointed up stream all morning in the swing of an ebbing tide. It was intended that they should not get under way until the flow had changed and their prows had been pointed toward the wider waters of the lower bay. This would have made maneuvering the many vessels in the close confines of the river a comparatively easy task.

For more than an hour past the scheduled time the president waited for the tide to change and for the advance of the moving fleet, but under the influence of the gale blowing out of the harbor the ebb continued undiminished.

Nature Takes Revenge.

A little more than two weeks ago President Taft arrived in San Francisco harbor, where the Pacific fleet lay at anchor. It was long past nightfall when he started across the bay, but the ships of the fleet had officially delayed the setting of the sun for an hour in order that they might salute the chief magistrate. The navy regulations do not permit the firing of salutes after sundown. It seemed today that nature was retaliating for this liberty with her time table and by no official order could the drift of the tide be turned.

Giving up hope at last for an early change in conditions, Rear Admiral Osterhaus, in command of the fleet flashed orders to get under way. The gay dressing lines which had flapped and fluttered throughout the day came tumbling to the decks and the military masts and yard arms of the battleships stood out again in all their barreness.

The exhibition of seamanship involved in turning the massive vessels, practically in their own length, against wind and tide, has never been equalled in the navy, and called out great praise from the president and the naval officers aboard the Mayflower.

The maneuver successfully completed, the fleet began to move. As the leading vessels picked up speed the water could be seen to whiten at their bows, and when they passed the Mayflower they were bowling along at fine speed. The steaming column, flung farther than the eye could reach in the haze of the late afternoon, presented a fitting picture to close the notable day. The throbbing ships, only 400 yards apart, however, raised neither terrors nor paramount right-of-way in the judgment of a number of ferryboat captains in the harbor, who from time to time drove their unsuspecting crafts across the bows of an oncoming ironclad. Happily there were no collisions.

Reflects Transitory Stage.

While the fleet reviewed by the president today was the most powerful ever gathered in one American command, it was not such a homogenous fighting force as that composed of 16 battleships that sailed around the world three years ago. It reflected rather the transitory stage of the American navy—the passing from the old line of battleships to the modern superdreadnaughts, or all big gun type. The review may be said to have officially established the "all big gun" as the future fighting unit of the American navy, for among the 24 battleships in the imposing column six belonged to the new class of floating fortresses.

Even among the dreadnaughts in the line today, there was evidence of the mad pace the naval architects of the world are setting. Although the first of these were completed less than two years ago, there had been a jump from the 16,000 tons of the Michigan and the South Carolina, the first of the American big-gun ships, to the 21,825 tons of the Utah and the Florida, fresh from the hands of the builders.

In between the Michigan type and Utah-Florida type there was represented today the Delaware and the North Dakota of 20,000 tons each.

The secondary battery takes a jump from 16 five-inch guns to 22 of the same bore. The fifth step, represented by the New York and Texas, just begun, finds the most radical change ever introduced in the navies of the world in that 14-inch rifles are installed in the main battery—10 of them in five turrets.

Finally comes the "improved Texas type," authorized but not yet laid down with a tonnage estimated at between 28,000 and 30,000, and a main battery of 12 12-inch rifles. These 12 guns will be accommodated in five turrets, three rifles each being placed in the farthest forward and farthest aft of these.

There were only seven battleships of the navy missing from today's splendid pageant. Six of these were among the 16 in the world-girdling fleet. The seventh was the Oregon, of imperishable fame.

Three Veteran Ships.

Three of the ships in the line today had taken the shot and shell of Cervera's fleet at Santiago—the Indiana, the Massachusetts and the Iowa.

But in their rebuilt form, their basket masts and generally rejuvenated condition they could hardly be recognized as the same.

Their new turrets and new 12-inch guns undoubtedly have twice the efficiency of the armaments during the Spanish war and although far outclassed by the modern fighting machines, they could still lend a helping hand in the thick of a fight.

Next in point of age to these three oldest ships in the line of 10,000 and 11,000 tons came the Ohio, Maine and Missouri, the first to be designed after the war with Spain. They were giants in their day with a tonnage of 12,500. Following these came the Virginia, Nebraska, New Jersey and Georgia, laid down in 1904 and displacing 14,948 tons apiece.

The next class to be designed brought the American navy up to the Connecticut class with her 16,000 tons and a battery of four 12s and eight eights. The Louisiana, the Kansas, the Vermont, the Minnesota and New Hampshire all are sister ships. Between the Connecticut, Louisiana and the rest of the class, however, there was a year when the navy stepped backward. This was in 1905 when the Idaho and Mississippi were laid down with a tonnage of only 13,000. Their batteries, however, are the same as the Connecticut class. Their lighter weight and curtailed length rob them of much of the symmetry of the other ships and they seem to be all guns, so compactly are the batteries arranged.

Dreadnaughts Came Next.

The next step forward from the Connecticut class was the plunge into dreadnaughts.

President Taft was much interested in the details of the various ships and kept Secretary Meyer answering a rapid fire of questions. He learned that the dreadnaughts South Carolina and Michigan with their batteries of eight 12-inch rifles, had quickly been surpassed by the Delaware and North Dakota class with 10 12-inch guns in five turrets. The 22 three-inch guns on the Michigan type had been replaced by 14 five-inch guns on the North Dakota and the Delaware. The Utah and the Florida representing the third step in American dreadnaught building remain at a standstill so far as the main battery of 10 12-inch rifles is concerned, but have 16 five-inch rifles in the secondary or torpedo repulsing battery. The fourth step, represented by the Arkansas and Wyoming, now on the ways, finds the tonnage increased to 26,400 and the main battery to 12 12-inch guns in six turrets.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Rear Admiral Chauncey Thomas, commander of the Pacific fleet; Rear Admiral W. H. H. Southerland, in command of the second division, and 120 officers of the Pacific fleet now anchored in Los Angeles harbor, were the guests of this city today.

Leaving their ships during the forenoon the officers of the fleet boarded special electric cars and were conveyed to the Jonathan club where a dinner was tendered to them by the club and the chamber of commerce. Later they were guests at a lawn fete attended by more than 3,000 persons.

IMPERIALISTS BEYOND CONTROL OF LEADERS; MASSACRE IS FEARED

PEKIN, Nov. 2.—The massacre of natives at Hankow by imperialist troops, intelligence of which has reached both the war board and the German legation, may prove a serious hindrance to the peace negotiations which Yuan Shi Kai has been endeavoring to inaugurate with the rebel leaders. The imperialists apparently have got beyond control and further fighting is feared. In such a case it will be difficult to protect the foreign concessions as they are divided from the native city by streets only 50 or 60 feet wide. It is reported that the war board at Pekin has declined to accept the suggestion of foreign doctors to form a Red Cross society on the lines of the Geneva convention, the board seeming to feel that the rebels do not deserve humane treatment. The massacre according to some advices began before the departure of General Yin Tchang.

The exodus from Pekin continues, the doors of many shops, as well as private houses being closed in anticipation of massacre. The missionaries who have had a conference with the legation have decided that the few soldiers placed in each of the four large mission compounds would suffice to prevent ordinary outlawry and looting which is expected to begin any night. Should there be a general outbreak, all the others could take refuge in the Methodist mission, which is immediately east of the lexation quarter and easily defended.

The diplomatic body will meet tomorrow to consider the question of allowing the Chinese troops to enter Tien Tsin, a consul there having made serious objection.

Regiment Mutinies.

An official dispatch from Shih Kai Tan, Shan Si province, says that a regiment of Shan Si troops, which had been dispatched to assist the imperialists has mutinied. The mutineers killed their brigadier general and then bombarded a Manchu city, massacred 1,000 Manchus, including the governor and his family.

General Yin Tchang, who until a few days ago was commander of the imperial forces at Hankow, returned here today. There was a great crowd at the station at the time of his arrival, but no demonstration took place.

It is understood the national assembly is showing determined opposition to the foreign loan for which arrangements have been made, arguing that such a loan is unnecessary as many millions are hoarded in the Forbidden city.

POLITICAL PARTIES ARE REQUESTED TO SHOW BOOKS

Massachusetts District Attorney Will Investigate Certain Campaign Advertising

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—District Attorney Pelliter, announced today that he has requested the treasurers of the Republican and Democratic state committees to submit their books to him for examination and started an investigation along certain other lines regarding political advertisements in the newspapers.

The district attorney said the action was due to the receipt of a letter from Governor Foss, calling attention to alleged violations of the law of 1908 entitled "An act to prohibit the making of political contributions by business corporations" and of the law of 1907 entitled "An act to prohibit the publication of unsigned political advertisements and the making by certain corporations of political contributions."

During the day the jackies of the fleet were given the freedom of the beach resorts.

Thousands of persons gathered tonight on the bluffs overlooking the harbor, viewing the electric display on the warships.

FAVORS TITLE OF ADMIRAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Following the review of the fleet, President Taft issued the following statement:

"Those who saw the fighting fleet assembled in New York harbor today could not fail to be struck with its preparedness and with its high military efficiency, and must have been proud of its personnel.

"The demonstration has additional value in arousing patriotism increasing the general knowledge of, and interest in the navy, in illustrating the ability to mobilize on short notice, and in showing the skill of the officers, who turned the whole fleet in the narrow river and set to sea at the rate of 14 knots an hour.

"The equipment of the fleet is in excellent shape as to the number of destroyers and cruisers, and colliers in proportion to the whole number. We had in the fleet today 22 destroyers, and to meet the full requirements there should have been approximately 100 destroyers or an average of four to each battleship. It is true that there has been a marked improvement in the type of colliers and fast cruisers in our navy, but it is also true that we have not a sufficient number. In addition to building great battleships other nations are building enormously high cruisers—28 knots an hour—and it is believed that our navy should be similarly equipped. Unless a navy is maintained at the highest possible state of its efficiency it is a needless extravagance.

"I am more than ever convinced of the desirability of conferring upon the commanding officer of our fleet the title of admiral or at least of vice admiral. At present the ranking officer is rear admiral and this title is not commensurate with the importance of the fleet. The review of the German fleet at Kiel, a smaller number of ships was under the command of a full admiral; two squadrons were commanded by vice admirals and each of four divisions was commanded by a rear admiral."

RODGERS DELAYED BY SHORTAGE OF GASOLINE

YUMA, Ariz., Nov. 2.—Aviator Cal. P. Rodgers, flying at an altitude of more than 5,000 feet, was compelled to land at Stoval siding, 60 miles east of Yuma, late this afternoon, because his supply of gasoline was exhausted.

As soon as he landed, Rodgers rushed to the station and telegraphed to Yuma for a special train to bring him a supply of gasoline, but the the train arrived too late for him to resume his flight today. He will resume his westward flight early tomorrow, with Yuma as his first stopping place.

Leaving Maricopa at an early hour, he arrived at Phoenix at 10:30 o'clock, and, after a flight around the city and a short landing at the state fair grounds, resumed his journey, with Yuma, more than 200 miles away, as his objective point.

Rodgers flew directly over the mountains, rising to an altitude of about 3,500 feet, in order to make the passage, instead of going back to Tempe, and following the easier route, down the Southern Pacific tracks.

Counting his trip from Maricopa to Phoenix, and over the mountains to Stoval, Rodgers covered about 225 miles today. His actual flying time has not been figured, as the exact time of his landing at Stoval is not known.

BENSON, Ariz., Nov. 2.—Robert G. Fowler, who is eastward bound on his transcontinental aeroplane flight, arrived in Benson at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon and will remain until tomorrow.

Fowler left Tucson at 2:15 p. m., after having been held there for four days, effecting repairs to his machine, and immediately "bucked" a strong headwind, which continued throughout his flight of two hours and five minutes.

ASKS FARMERS TO PLANT SPANISH PEANUTS OR MILO

One of the plans proposed by Prof. H. M. Cottrell, agricultural commissioner for the Rock Island railroad, for the development and upbuilding of eastern Colorado, is to have the banks refuse to lend money to farmers who do not plant a certain amount of their land in milo or Spanish peanuts. This will be one of the problems discussed when Colorado Springs business men leave next week with the Rock Island railroad special dry farming train, to confer with the farmers and business men in the eastern portion of the state.

"This is a problem that the people of Oklahoma are working on at present," said Mr. Cottrell. "The bankers in the dry section of that state realize that the farmers cannot make a success of wheat and corn raising, so they tell the agriculturist that, unless they plant, say 70 acres of a 160-acre farm, in milo or some other dry crop, they will not advance them money on their year's prospects. The scheme is having great success, and, instead of the farmers having from three to five bushels of wheat to the acre, they are raising from 30 to 40 bushels of milo. And the country is filling up and the people are sticking."

The special train will leave Colorado Springs Monday morning. The first stop will be at Falcon. Here is the three days' itinerary:

The Schedule.

Monday—Falcon, 9 to 9:45 a. m.; Peyton, 10 to 11:40 a. m.; Calhan, noon to 2 p. m.; Ramah, 2:15 to 4 p. m.; Simla, 4:10 to 6 p. m.; Mattison, 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Tuesday—Limon, 8 to 12 o'clock, noon; Genoa, 12:25 to 2 p. m.; Bovina, 2 to 3:45 p. m.; Arriba, 4 to 6 p. m.; Flagler, 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Wednesday—Seibert, 9 to 10:50 a. m.; Vona, 11 to noon; Stratton, 1 to 3 p. m.; Burlington, 3:30 to 5 p. m.

The train will be in charge of the agricultural department of the Rock Island, and will be accompanied by a large delegation from the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce and officials of the railroad.

"We intend to lay special stress to four things," Mr. Cottrell continued, "and that is to impress the people in the dry land region with the importance of growing milo and Spanish peanuts, and of the raising of poultry and a large herd of cows. With these four things we can bring about an excellent development of the eastern part of the state."

The Elite Laundry has added a department for that class of work.

MRS. WIXSON TO ATTEND BANQUET OF TEACHERS

Mrs. Helen M. Wixson, state superintendent of public instruction; Superintendent Milton C. Potter and Superintendent J. C. Keating of the Pueblo schools, are among the prominent educators of the state who will arrive in Colorado Springs today to attend the banquet this evening at the Antlers hotel, to be given by the teachers in the local schools.

"It will be one of the largest gatherings of educational people ever seated at a banquet in this city," said C. M. Cole, superintendent of city schools last night.

Plates will be laid for 250, and from 75 to 80 guests have been invited by the teachers.

The banquet begins at 6:15 o'clock. Dr. Nathaniel Butler, of the University of Chicago, will give an address on "The Individual and Social Value of Education."

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

Dodge Plays With Noted Tennis Champion; Chosen Referee Big Tournament

C. P. Dodge, of this city, who with Mrs. Dodge has been abroad several months, is referee of the big London and Paris tennis match which began October 30 and will close today. The scene of the match is the covered courts of the Tennis Club de Paris at Auteuil, six of the best players in London and Paris participating. Mr. Dodge being an American and a member of the Paris club, was urged to act as referee by both sides, especially, too, because he is an expert tennis player himself and knows all the contestants in the match. On the London team are such well-known players as Dixon, Doust, Ritchie, Powell and Dawson, while the French team is made up of Gobert, Lauretz, Decugis, Germot, Miny and Gault.

Dodge played in doubles with Gobert, the champion of France and England, on covered courts at the big tournament at Dulwich, London. His arm is much better and he is playing a strong game of doubles.

Mrs. Dodge recently was accorded the unusual privilege of a flight in an aeroplane piloted by Maurice Farman, one of the leading French aviators, whose reputation is international. The flight was made at Buc near Versailles and Mrs. Dodge was aloft 20 minutes.

AGED COUPLE STRANDED ON WAY TO WASHINGTON

Hardship after hardship has been encountered by an aged couple, 65 and 58 years old, in their effort to drive overland from southern Texas to their former home in Bellingham, Wash. Now they are stranded in this city.

Although it was just a few days ago that the pathetic case came to the attention of the Associated Charities, it was more than a month ago that they arrived in this city on their trip to the northwest.

First the woman became ill with rheumatism. The horse and buggy was sacrificed at a sale shortly afterward for $12.50. This sum soon became exhausted. Now they have been notified to vacate a house, which was thrown open to them rent free, a few weeks ago.

"We have been told," said a member of the Associated Charities, "that relatives and friends would look after them after they arrived at Bellingham. We are attempting to raise money to buy them tickets to that place."

It will cost $61.50 to send the couple to Bellingham. Of this sum $31 has been raised, $10 being offered by the county commissioners. It is a pitiful case and the aged couple are very deserving, the member of the Associated Charities continued, "and any contribution intended for their use will be given to them by directing it to this office."

TICKETS SELLING FAST

The sale of reserved seat tickets for the Y. M. C. A. Star lecture and entertainment course was opened at 7:30 o'clock last night, at the Y. M. C. A. building, and proved to be a big one.

Three ticket sellers were working last night, one each in charge of 25, 20 and 15-cent seats. These prices are the extra charge for each performance, but the reserved seat price for the entire course is $1.50 for the best seat.

The course will open at the Opera house next Wednesday evening, with the Dick Bergen company. Bergen is one of the greatest American baritones, and is supported by an excellent company. Those desiring reservations for this performance may secure them at the box office, Wednesday.

DISCUSS R. R. FACILITIES

The question whether the Colorado and Southern railroad can hold terminal facilities on Sahwatch street probably will come up for an airing, if not decided, to the satisfaction of the council at least, at the regular meeting of the city council this morning. According to City Attorney McKesson there are no means whereby the city can prevent the railroad from retaining its terminal facilities. The city attorney also declares that there are no means whereby the city could prevent the railroad company from stopping its Eastonville service, a matter in which the aid of the council was asked by the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the [illegible].

RAILWAY MEN TAKEN TO CRYSTAL PARK; MANITOU

Enjoy Novel Trips and Luncheon at Grand View Hotel—Canon City Drive and Smoker Today

The mountains in all the grandeur and glory of their snow-covering were unfolded yesterday to the railroad advertising agents on their trips to Crystal park and through Williams canon to the Cave of the Winds. Although the weather was somewhat forbidding when the start was made in the morning, the day in reality proved one of the most delightful of the week. The effect of the snow on the trees, the rocks and mountain sides was beautiful in the extreme and as the snow storm had been confined to the lower mountains and did not extend as high as Crystal park, the upper portion of the journey was made above the clouds, affording a unique and distinctive sensation.

Upon the return from Crystal park, the hospitality of Manitou was extended, through the Manitou Springs Hot Iron club. An excellent luncheon was served at the Grand View hotel, when opportunity was given the railroad men to meet and become acquainted with the 30 representative Manitou citizens in attendance. During the luncheon a number of short speeches were made, H. H. Grafton acting as toastmaster and introducing R. C. L. Giles, secretary of the Hot Iron club; the Rev. Mr. Carson, C. E. Bruce, C. W. Sells, C. H. Austin, N. N. Brumback, C. A. Pollen, all of Manitou; E. C. Heinley of Colorado City and L. A. Puffer, A. W. Henderson and M. M. Barns, all of Colorado Springs, together with C. R. Custer, J. W. Boothe, F. S. Savage, L. A. Smith and Mrs. T. T. Maxey of the visitors. The keynote of the meeting was Manitou's pleasure in entertaining the railroad men, and their expressions as to the great future in store for Manitou, Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region as America's premier resort.

The trip to and through the Cave of the Winds was a revelation and called forth enthusiastic expressions. The return was made by moonlight, proving an unusually interesting feature.

The trips to Mount Manitou and the Cliff Dwellers' ruins were postponed. On account of weather conditions, the Florissant trip planned for today has been changed and an automobile ride over the Canon City scenic highway to Dead Man's canon will be taken.

Tonight the Chamber of Commerce will entertain for the visitors at an informal reception and smoker, beginning at 8 o'clock, in the new headquarters in the Burns theater building.

Utah Copper Report Shows Big Profits

The fourteenth quarterly report of the Utah Copper company, received in this city from the New York offices yesterday, shows a total net profit of $1,535,711.35 for the three months ending September 30. This includes $375,187.50 received from the Nevada Consolidated Copper company and $12,399.61 from miscellaneous sources other than ore output. The gross production of the Utah company alone was 25,851,456 pounds of copper, which brought an average of 12¼ cents a pound, an increase of nearly 1,400,000 pounds over the output for the preceding quarter. The report further shows a reduction of production costs from 8.02 cents per pound to 7.56 cents, a new economy figure. In September the low cost mark of 7.18 cents was reached.

The report also tells of the completion in August of the Bingham and Garfield railway for haulage of ore from the mines to the mills, and of a new schedule arrangement with the D. & R. G. railroad whereby the road will haul 7,500 tons daily, all in excess of that amount to be hauled by the new branch line. The report is signed by C. M. MacNeill of this city, president, and D. C. Jackling, general manager.

60 DAYS IN JAIL

Norman Patterson, a young man whose nerve exceeds his discretion, began a 60-day sojourn in the county jail yesterday afternoon, during which he will have ample time to meditate on the folly of trying to win the favor of a young lady by purloining wearing apparel for her mother. Some days ago, Patterson, so said the testimony on which he was convicted of petty larceny in Justice Dunnington's court, was caught with some furs concealed under his coat as he was leaving the store of I. Polant, a local clothier.

A couple of days later his sweetheart's mother entered the store with a shirtwaist which she wanted to exchange, saying he had given it to her. Patterson was arrested on the charge of having stolen the shirtwaist, but claimed in court yesterday that it had by mistake been included in a package with other goods he had bought. The story did not stick, wherefore the jail sentence. Neither did the claim of his counsel stick that he was entitled to a new trial because aforesaid counsel was not on hand while the case was being heard.

Nothing Definite Yet as to City Tax Levy

"I shall not be able to say anything at all definite regarding my budget for the new year, or the 1912 tax levy," said Mayor Avery last night, "until I have received from Finance Commissioner Whitaker his estimates of taxes, assessed valuations, licenses, etc. The charter provides that he submit these to me by the first Monday in November (the sixth of the month this year), and the commissioner now is preparing them. Before they are submitted, and I know what the revenues are likely to be, as well as the needs of the various departments, I would not attempt to make any prediction as to the levy.

"I do not know that the tax rate ought to be reduced; the people are heavily saddled with taxes, and there is not a little grumbling about it. On the 20-mill rate we have an increase of some $4,050, due to an increase of $200,000 in assessed valuation, and with the drug store, hotel and club liquor licenses, the revenue for the coming year will show an increase. The refusal of the Santa Fe to pay its taxes, between $8,500 and $9,000, pending settlement of its appeal, and the reduction of automobile and motorcycle license charges in the ordinance, after I had fixed a budget based on the original ordinance, cut down receipts considerably this year, although the liquor license receipts counterbalanced this."

The mayor is required to fix his budget by November 15, which gives him this year nine days in which to hear arguments regarding various phases of the appropriations.

News of Local Courts

A. B. Lightner, aged 19, has been granted a divorce in the county court from his bride of two months, Miss Dolly C. Driskill, also 19 years old, on the charge of cruelty. The suit was uncontested, and the decree was signed within a couple of hours of the time the action was filed.

Two ranchmen, William White and William Bixler, were arraigned before Justice Dunnington yesterday on a charge of larceny and released on $500 bond each pending hearing on November 8. The men, who live in the northeastern part of the county, are accused of having stolen a wagonload of beans valued at $60 from the field of Joe Burkhart, a neighbor. The beans were later found on the ranch of another man.

Mrs. Ruth McCutcheon was granted a divorce from Sam McCutcheon, in the county court, yesterday afternoon, on the ground that her husband committed a felony. McCutcheon, who is 24 years old, was convicted in the district court several months ago on a statutory charge and sentenced to the penitentiary for 10 years, by Judge W. S. Morris. The couple have one child, Richard, 1 year old, who was given into the custody of his mother by Judge J. E. Little. They were married in this city in 1909.

James Burke, who, according to the authorities, has been using "dope" for a quarter of a century or more, was fined $60 and costs in police court yesterday, and committed to the county jail in default of payment. William Flatery, a solicitor for a rooming house, was given $30 and costs and his license ordered revoked. He has the same failing as Burke.

The Colorado City election case is scheduled to come up again in the district court before Judge Sheafor, this morning, after a continuance since the first of the week. The defendants will continue the presentation of their case.

LONG FLIGHTS OF BIRDS

From the London Daily News.

Some remarkable facts regarding bird migration have been brought to light by the natural history department of Aberdeen university. That swallows, lapwings and other summer visitors are confirmed wanderers is well known, but much has yet to be learned concerning their methods.

Among the means adopted by the natural history department of the university to obtain reliable data of the future movement of birds is the placing of rings on the legs of a number of birds. In one case, that of a widgeon duckling, which was marked in Loch Brora, Sutherlandshire in June, 1909, it is stated that the bird was caught in a duck decoy in Holland in the following September.

Last summer six chick lapwings were marked in the northeast of Scotland, and in the very early winter four were shot in different parts of Ireland and two in Portugal. A guillemot marked as a newly hatched chick on the Aberdeenshire cliffs in July, 1910, was shot in November in Sweden.

Perhaps the most striking instance of bird migration that has come under the notice of the university authorities is that of a song thrush. One of a brood of chicks marked in their nest at Skene, in Aberdeenshire, in June, 1910, was shot at Leiria, in Portugal, five months later. The two localities are about 1,250 miles apart as the crow flies.

OLORADO COLLEGE TEAM OFF FOR BOULDER TODAY

Washburn field was not in safe condition for scrimmage k last evening, and Coach Rothgeb had to be satisfied with ng signal practice to top the Tigers off for tomorrow's game h Boulder.

No one realizes more than Rothgeb that tomorrow's ggle with the state university eleven will be probably the dest game on the Tiger schedule this fall, and while he ld like to have his men in better condition for so ortant a contest, the Colorado college players will leave for lder this afternoon in shape to give a good account of nselves.

far as speed, experience, weight general football knowledge fig- Boulder and Colorado college are ably as evenly matched as any two ball teams in Colorado. Each has ndividual stars and each has the ces of competent and able foot- tutors. Boulder has a greater ber of eligible candidates from h to select the best eleven men, on the other hand, Colorado col- this year has a veteran team, with two or three exceptions.

There is not enough difference eights, however, to have any bear- upon the result. It would be more ly correct to say that the team h takes advantage of the other's and misplays is the team that win tomorrow. Football, like ball, has come to be a battle of ns as well as of strength, and the team that excels in playing "inside football" tomorrow is the one that will win.

The well-known rivalry between Colorado college and the state university is sure to manifest itself when the teams get together again tomorrow. Two of the stars, Vandemoer of Colorado college and McFadden of Boulder, are playing their last year of college football, and the battle between these two Colorado chieftains in sporting events will be well worth witnessing.

It is probable that a big crowd of football fans will go to Boulder tomorrow morning on the special train that will leave here at 8:30 o'clock over the Denver and Rio Grande and running to Boulder direct. The special will reach the college town about noon and returning will leave Boulder at 6:30 in the evening.

The football team, made up of 18 players, Coach Rothgeb and Manager Stratton, starts for Boulder this afternoon in a special car over the Denver and Rio Grande at 2:22 o'clock. Tiger supporters are preparing to send the team away in a rousing manner.

OULDER TEAM WORKS TO CORRECT FUMBLING

OULDER, Colo. Nov. 2.—With inches of snow on the gridiron andidates for the Colorado varsity en trotted out on Gamble field erday to convince the coaches by an or superhuman efforts, that are individually the only men for es on the line or in the backfield. le the men rolled on the snow or n in the slush the stoic mentor d behind them, judging their g points, magnifying their weak and letting them know by the t system that only a few stand chance of making heroes of them- s in the Tiger game.

With men in such perfect condition and the material from which to se there is little reason to wonder the students are claiming the eleven that ever represented the e university.

summary of the men will bear out, both on the line and in the field. Without question McFad- is the best football man in this of the state and the question of entire state will be settled Satur-

For three years he has been the t sensational player on the local and with "Bull" Sterritt shared Colorado honors for two seasons.

McFadden's playing or lack of playing against the Tigers has been peculiar. His first year he played half just out of high school and made an enviable reputation. The next year, at Colorado Springs, he was knocked out in the first two minutes of play. Last season the smallpox scare and inability to arrange a post-season game kept him from appearing against the college.

This year will be his last whack at the Orange and Black. As the same factors will spur Vandemoer on, it will be a battle royal between these two recognized giants in Colorado athletics.

Realizing that this kind of weather may continue over Saturday and that the game may be played on a muddy field, Folsom is drilling his men in mud crawling and handling a muddy ball. It has always been the university coach's policy to prepare the team in all manners of play and he intends that his eleven shall not be at a disadvantage Saturday.

No one can tell who will enter the game until Coach Folsom calls the men from the sidelines and gives them their final instructions before the game. In the backfield it looks as though McFadden, Hartman, Rich and Nelson will start the first quarter. On the line more position are in doubt. The extremes will be taken care of by Kemp and Mills, both of whom can be depended upon to take care of anyone tearing around the ends. At guard Crouter and Knowles look to be slated as sure things, with Workey, Van Gundy and Looper holding down the tackle positions. The hub position will be filled by Davenport.

NO FIRST-CLASS LIGHTWEIGHTS LEFT IF WOLGAST BEATS WELSH

By ED W. SMITH

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—What is to become of all the good lightweights? From the looks of things now it's a pretty safe bet that inside of six months there won't be a first-class man left in the class with the single exception of the present champion.

We are told that Matt Wells, British champion, intends to return to the other side because he is so disgusted with his own condition that he is going to chuck the whole thing. He has found, it is said, that he cannot even make 135 pounds now.

Freddie Welsh, his closest rival for supremacy among the Britons, has had to start west early in order to train for weeks in order to get down somewhere near the lightweight limit so that he can fill his engagement with Ad Wolgast the latter part of the month.

Packey McFarland says his weight is about the same as it always has been. He can make 133 pounds eight or 10 hours before a contest, but would much prefer to be allowed to make 135 at about the same time.

If this keeps up, who is to battle the mighty Wolgast?

There isn't much of a new crop coming up. Knockout Brown is the best boy in the east, and he is regarded as a set-up for Wolgast and admitted to be even by his eastern friends, especially over a championship route.

Nobody in the west stands a chance with the Cadillac hurricane at the present time.

Wolgast demands his pound of flesh all right and, from the Wolgast viewpoint, that is the thing to do. Since other fighters decline to concede a single ounce, why should he? It's a good argument, for he is as much inside of the lightweight limit as the others are over it. He's champion, too, and can do the dictating. So what are the others to do about it?

The Cadillac man is as courageous an article as one could wish to find and is willing to meet any of them. He once told Stanley Ketchel that he would some day fight him for the championship of Michigan. "You live at Grand Rapids and I live at Cadillac," he told the late middleweight champion. "Those towns are too close together to hold two champions, so I'll have to fight you for it."

Ketchel laughed good naturedly at this, but said afterward that he knew Wolgast meant it.

Ketchel boxed with Wolgast several times on the coast, notably soon after Stanley's all-starred match with Jack Johnson, and Wolgast threw him all over the ring, causing Ketchel the greatest surprise. "He's about the strongest little cuss I ever hooked up with," Ketchel told his friends afterward. "He ought to be champion for a good many years."

And while on the weight subject, it is worthy of note that Wolgast is not only champion, but is a champion killer. He not only wipes out all candidates from his path, but he puts them out of business. Outside of Knockout Brown, who boxed Wolgast twice in the east when Ad was testing his arm, not a single man Wolgast has tackled in the last two years ever has been able to make a first-class battle afterward.

The list includes Battling Nelson, Owen Moran, Lew Powell, George Memsic, "One Round" Hogan and several others.

The news that Frankie Conley and Harry Gilmore, Jr., are having trouble out on the Pacific coast is not a surprise around Chicago where Conley is known. Frankie always has been a hard young man to get along with, even his brother Joe failing utterly in the task of keeping Frankie satisfied. Conley never has been noted as a grateful kid, and is a financial grinder, so to speak, at least if the tales of former handlers are to be believed.

And speaking of managers, Johnny Coulon has a new one. Johnny is going to continue to "keep it in the family," having appointed his brother to the position.

Many others were hoping they might be the lucky one, because Johnny looks like something of a mine for a hustling handler.

TERRORS WILL PLAY LA JUNTA HERE TOMORROW

By IRVIN BRUCE.

With the field covered under two inches of snow and with the mercury hovering a few degrees above zero, the Terrors held their last workout yesterday afternoon before tomorrow's game here with the strong La Junta team.

Coach Coffin is far from satisfied with the showing made by the High school eleven this year and as a result the Terrors have been put through an unusual amount of practice this week. By working the squad in the snow yesterday the coach believes the High school players will be able to handle the ball better tomorrow in the event that the field is wet and slippery.

The Terrors will show a few surprises in the La Junta game, and the backfield, which to date has not been working in proper manner, will furnish some of them. Just now the backs are displaying the best form they have this season, not only in hitting the line low and hard but in making interference for the runner. The team from the southern part of the state will have to present a strong line if it hopes to hold the Terrors without a score, for the Terrors will go into the game tomorrow to roll up the biggest score possible.

A feature of the game will be the use of the famous Yale shift by which the Blue eleven defeated Princeton last season. The Terrors have been working on the shift for the last three weeks and have it mastered to the extent that it is almost a sure ground gainer. The play requires a great amount of speed, and if used with the necessary dash there is no defense, so far as has been figured out, to stop it. The Terrors are relying on this play largely to win the state championship for them this year.

The La Junta team is rated as one of the fastest elevens in the southern part of the state, and in Potter the squad has one of the best coaches in that part of Colorado. Potter and Coach Castleman of Boulder were on the same football team at Colgate, and he knows lots of football. Reports from the southern part of the state are that the Terrors will have to play a fast and hard game all the way through if they expect to win from La Junta.

Irrespective of the weather, Washburn field will be in good shape for tomorrow's game, no matter if more snow falls between now and tomorrow. A large force of students will be put to work sweeping the gridiron and the snow, if there is any, will also be removed from the stands so as not to cause the spectators any inconvenience.

One of the biggest crowds of the season is expected to turn out tomorrow, as this probably will be the only interscholastic football game in Colorado Springs until the big Thanksgiving day game to decide the state championship. The Terrors, from present indications, will line up for tomorrow's game as follows:

Taylor, le; Worth, lt; More, lg; Hall, c; Bundy, rg; Eubank, rt; Ahl, re; Davis, qb; Shockley, lh; Nifong, rh; Johns-Storke, fb.

LONG AUTO ROAD RACE STRATS TOMORROW NIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Sixteen automobile racing cars are ready to start on the long grind in the annual Los Angeles to Phoenix desert sand race at 10:45 o'clock Saturday night.

That this race will eclipse anything ever before attempted in the way of speed is admitted by all. For one thing, the course has been changed so that now the cars go straight to San Diego for their first registering point. The first to arrive there, elapsed time to count, wins a special prize of $1,000. And from then on at all of the six places where drivers must stop and register their names and numbers, an additional prize of $500 goes to the lucky first.

The big prize, however, that awaits the first arrival at the state fair grounds at Phoenix, is a purse of $7,000 cash. In awarding prizes, elapsed time will count at all points.

The official course will be from Los Angeles, east through Whittier, Santa Ana, to San Diego and thence across the deserts to El Centro, to Mexicali through Mexican territory to Cocopah and Andrade, where the Mexican line is recrossed and the cars go on to Yuma. At Mexicali, customs papers must be obtained and at Andrade surrendered to the Mexican authorities. At Yuma the Colorado river will be ferried. From Yuma the cars go to Castle Dome mine, Arizona, and thence to Middle Wells, the famous water hole of southwestern Arizona. At Palomas further on is the last registering point, and from there on to Phoenix, 150 miles, is a straight gruelling run through soft sand.

Harvey Herrick, winner of this year's Santa Monica race, holder of the American road race record and the victor in last year's Phoenix race, is picked by many to land his big National a winner.

POSTPONES MEETING OF INDOOR BALL LEAGUE

Tonight's scheduled meeting at the Y. M. C. A., to organize an indoor baseball league, has been postponed in order to give representatives of the teams more time to organize. The meeting has been set for Tuesday evening. Physical Director Ellis will have charge of the meeting.

MUTES TO PLAY ROBBINS

The Deaf Mutes' second eleven will play the Robbins West Side team this afternoon, on the former's grounds. Both teams have been playing fast football all season, and a close game is looked for this afternoon. The Robbins eleven has not been scored against this season.

HARVARD TEAM READY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 2.—The Harvard eleven showed up well against the second team today in the last practice before the Princeton game Saturday. All the regular men were in the lineup, with the exception of Quarterback Potter. Gardner filled that position today, but Potter will be in the game Saturday.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—A light scrimmage today ended Princeton's hard work for the Harvard game Saturday. The scrubs at no time could gain consistently against their bigger opponents, but, despite this, there were a number of defects in the work of the [illegible]

TIGER-BOULDER GAME WILL BE HARDEST OF THE YEAR

By CLEM CROWLEY

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Although snow was on Gamble field at Boulder last night, this did not deter the football team from going through their daily performance. Everything is being put in readiness for the Tigers' reception Saturday afternoon. The dope so far has been in favor of the Colorado college Tigers on account of the ragged playing of the varsity against Wyoming, but the game should be an even money bet. It is true that McFadden fumbled the ball time and again Saturday, but this player is a veteran, he has won his laurels, and he will play hardest when the occasion demands it.

Besides McFadden the Silver and Gold are supplied with a second string of backs that are as good as the first. Here it can be seen that an advantage lies with the Boulder eleven. If a star back or end gets hurt, or does not play the game, there are men available on the side lines to put in his place and not weaken the team at all. The vast amount of material at the disposal of the coaches will be an ace in their favor Saturday.

The university has the edge in that they play on their home grounds. It is mighty hard to go in the other fellow's back yard and lick him; you can do it a whole lot easier on neutral or your own grounds. The Boulder team has been known to fight like fiends when they are at home, and I never will forget the way they fought the University of Denver eleven in 1908. The Silver and Gold team would take their fullback and hurl him at the line till he was worn out, and then another was put in his place, and so on. They have the fighting instinct when they are on Gamble field, and the team that whips them there has reason to be proud, because it will be a hard-fought battle.

The Tigers have the best of it in that they have had more games this season. The contest they put up against the strong University of Wisconsin was meritorious. The Badgers have the best team in the conference this year and the Tigers played great ball in holding them down. This game should have shown Rothgeb the weaknesses of his team, and in the last two weeks they probably have been remedied.

In regard to the individual players the Tigers and the University boys are about even. Vandemoer is a star, not only in getting over the ground, but also with his heady kicking. He has the knack of placing his punts where the other fellow is not to be found. If he can do this Saturday it will be a great help to the team. Captain Sinton is an ideal end and one that should get away with some forward passes. Of course, the state team will be watching for this player, but even at that he should spear a couple of passes.

Any way you care to look at it, the game will be one of the best that ever took place on Gamble field, and it is a sage indeed that can predict the outcome. On account of the vast importance of the game the Union Pacific is running a special train from Colorado Springs and Denver to Boulder. The train will leave Denver at noon Saturday and a round-trip rate of $1 has been granted by the railroad.

WHISTLING TO KEEP UP COURAGE

LIKE the little boy who always whistled loudly when he passed a graveyard at night, The Herald-Telegraph continues to keep up its courage in the sacred cause of political regularity by boosting hard for Taft and the Taft administration and by inference for another Taft nomination. Our regard for the intelligence that rules the evening paper is too high to admit of the assumption that such editorials actually express The Herald-Telegraph's real belief. In fact, to put it bluntly, we think the evening paper has no higher regard for Taft than we have, but it has an infinitely higher regard for the sanctity of the party organization. Therefore, it purposes to follow the discredited leader to the last ditch, unless, meantime, its prayers are answered by the advent of some other "conservative" whose cause it can consistently support.

The continuous performance of whistling to keep up courage is not confined to the editorial column of our neighbor. A few days ago a long and mellifluous whistle was emitted in the news columns, the same being an account of the organization of "The Taft Republican Club of Colorado." We learn from this account that "this club and its subsidiary organizations will stand upon the Taft policies and records, and the abiding principles of the party." Well, they are building on a foundation of shifting sand, for the Taft policies and records have been pretty generally repudiated by the people of the United States from Puget Sound to Palatka. And just what, pray, are "the abiding principles of the party"? Most of us have been unable to learn that the party possessed any principles at all in recent years, much less "abiding" principles. But of course one can hardly expect the advocate of a lost cause to abandon pleasing platitudes and get down to hard facts.

CONCERNING WAVES OF EMOTION.

In the same article The Herald-Telegraph speaks of the "wave of emotion that is passing over the nation." "Wave of emotion" is good very good. A cursory glance over American history will reveal to our contemporary that every great political upheaval has had its origin in just such an "emotional wave." The people become dissatisfied with existing conditions and rebellious against existing abuses, political, social or economic. They begin to grope around for a way out. They agitate unceasingly, suggest one remedy after another, and try out one leader after another. Finally they settle on the man and the method which they believe best suited to their purpose, and when they have done this the next election is an upheaval. They may not get the right man and the method may be entirely wrong; if so, they try it over again, and so on until they are satisfied that the particular problem involved is rightly settled. At any rate, there is always an upheaval which sends somebody into retirement, and often he happens to be the President of the United States.

One need not be a politician to see that just such an upheaval is due one year from date, and that it will take the form of an official notice to Mr. Taft that March 4, 1913, will be his moving day. He has had his opportunity and he has not made good. His re-election would be almost a national disaster, but we need not worry about that for unless conditions change wonderfully in the next twelve months he cannot be re-elected. This being the case his renomination would be a colossal political blunder, and the Republican party as a rule has not been addicted to such blunders.

When a certain fact has an important bearing on one's welfare it is always wise to look that fact squarely in the face, whether it is agreeable or disagreeable. The Republican party may as well face the fact, right now, that it cannot afford to renominate Mr. Taft for the Presidency.

A WELCOME SNOWFALL

COLORADO has reason to rejoice over this splendid snow storm, because it means so much in health, wealth and happiness to the people. It has been uncomfortable for the time being and perhaps upset some of our little plans for outdoor amusement and entertainment of visitors, but that is inconsiderable compared to the great good that it has done.

In the first place, the snow has washed up the atmosphere and laid the dust. It has given a tinge and a zest to living that a good many people were needing. Those who have lived long in a climate where there is no frost can best appreciate that. There are no worse jaded spirits than among those who are victims of "eternal summer."

The greatest value of the storm is to the agricultural people east of us. Mark the prophecy that next year those who plant will have good crops. Three years ago last October we had a storm similar to this in October, and in 1910 the eastern plains had prolific crops. Since then there have been no fall storms. When it comes like this with the ground unfrozen the moisture sinks and freezes. It stays that way and thaws in the spring. Thus the farmer goes into the cultivating season with moisture in the ground. In the past two years the ground has been as dry as powder when he plowed it. We know the result.

It is rumored that some of the people who went onto the new lands in El Paso County will have to move away if they are unable to get assurance that they will have seed next spring. They will have to feed out everything that they raised during the winter and they cannot do that and save something to plant. A concerted movement should be organized to keep these people on their land and let them have another try at it. Such another drought year as the past is not likely to occur again in a long time. There is good soil out there and the crops came through the terrible June days, but there was not moisture enough to carry them into the August heat.

Dry-farming methods are all right. They should be practiced, but they are impotent without water in the ground to be conserved. It will be there next spring and the farmers should be kept on the land, if possible, to cultivate it.

Riding along the railroads one sees a handsome farm home here and there, and inquiry will show that the owner is prosperous and rich. It has taken years for him to establish himself. After every good year on the dry lands a few families here and there have found themselves fixed so that they could stay on possessed of a herd of cows or other sources of wealth. If the coming year is a good one a few more will find themselves able to "stick." These lands can never go back to the open range. The business men of Colorado Springs can do no more patrotic service or better business stroke than to see that a few more of these families are put in a position so that they also will stick to the land.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

A MUNICIPAL COAL MINE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

About the year 1895, the writer caused to be circulated a petition requesting the city council to investigate the practicability of utilizing the power of our water system for the purpose of municipal lighting. The result was as I expected. The committee reported back that the scheme was not at all practical, although they did go so far as the local company's office to inquire what they thought of it.

In only cite this as an evidence that we do not enjoy half the things we might as a community, and wish to inquire if it would not be a practicable and economic thing for this city to operate a municipal coal mine? or would it be better that we continue to pay $4 a ton for so-called coal, which, by the way, costs less than $1 at mouth of the mine to produce.

I am sure some will say that a city could not or should not enter into such a business, believing us to be unable to handle such a "big" thing. Don't believe them, for we today are operating a three-million-dollar water plant, a metropolitan police force, and letting one hundred and fifty thousand dollar paving contracts by commissioners who are all inexperienced in their respective departments, but who are honest, and that is all we need to make a municipal coal mine a success.

Let us have two-dollar and fifty-cent coal and this will be a year-round winter resort.

THE RECALL OF JUDGES

To the Editor of The Gazette:

In The Gazette of yesterday, a conservative subscriber, Meyer A. Novick, wishes answers to these questions:

First—In a case of an individual or corporation versus the people or vice versa, if a judge should decide against the people, would he be recalled?

Second—We deprecate boss-made judges. What difference is there in a judge being bossed by the people or an individual, as long as some extraneous influence, other than unadulterated justice and law, will govern his decision?

The recall of judges is such a live question at the present time that it is well that it should be well and carefully considered.

The constitution of the United States reads: "We, the people of the United States, in order to . . . establish justice." President Lincoln called this "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Now, if there is not a sense of justice in the people it is hard to conceive how we are to have a just government. With freedom of speech there is sure to be much difference of opinion as to what is justice. We are built that way. And when the supreme court of the United States decides a question of law five to four we see there is also a difference of opinion as to what is law, even among able judges. The judge, being the chief officer in the dispensation of justice, does it for the people for their benefit. He is placed in his position by the people either directly or indirectly and he is the representative of the people doing their work.

If a judge so situated makes such rulings and renders such decisions as to outrage the sense of justice of the people, he ceases to be their representative and becomes the representative of some one else. He then becomes a misrepresentative of the people and should be recalled. Outspoken opposition to the recall of other misrepresentatives than judges seems largely to have subsided. But some seem to think the judge is so good and great that he ought to be above and beyond the power he represents or misrepresents. That he ought to be above criticism. That he is so great that he ought to be allowed to misrepresent if it be his pleasure. Kings and priests used to like to be above criticism and tried to enforce this desire; but among free peoples the last stand seems to be made for judges. People are criticised more for criticising them than anyone else. But it is hard to see that they are nearer infallible than others.

Why men in one department of government should be allowed to misrepresent the people more than in another, is hard to see, and this seems to be the view that is being increasingly held.

The judge may like to consider himself above criticism, but the people will probably consider him as their servant and when he fails to do their work in a satisfactory manner they will probably replace him with one more to their liking.

That the recall is not always used when it can be is seen in our own city. The people are sometimes patient and long suffering and this may be expected in regard to judges.

LOOSEN UP SOME MORE

From the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Prosperity is smiling all right, but it is not that large, beaming and wholesome smile we have a right to expect in a country so abundantly blessed and so fortunately circumstanced as America is today. The captains have been showing a tendency to loosen up, and but for a groundless fear that a cataclysm will be swept in upon them as the result of a political contest in 1912, they would loosen up a little more and the country would go ahead in a way that would stagger those who have foolishly believed that somewhere and somehow there is something wrong with America. There is nothing the matter with this country, and nothing of a serious nature is going to happen to this country.

Sunflower Philosophy

BY WALT MASON

I went downtown one night this week, to hear a great and good man speak—a famous man of high estate, whose views on current themes have weight. The hall was packed with dames and gents who gladly blew their fifty cents, to see and hear a man of fame who figures in the world's big game. The clock at last struck half past eight; then Squigs, a local writer-weight, got up to introduce the guest, he bowed, his hand upon his breast, and started in—we thought he'd quit in less than fifteen minutes. Nit! He had us where we couldn't flee, and plunged us deep in misery. He touched on all things in his talk; on Lexington and Plymouth Rock, on setting hens and village choirs, and eke the green graves of our sires, on tariff schedules and the way to find a market for our hay. The hours wore on, the clock broke down, the lights went out, through all the town, he talked until the daylight came, and when he quit the man of fame was lying senseless on the floor, knocked dizzy by the village bore. I do not doubt that you, some day, have suffered in the same sad way, and you'll agree that such a skate deserves the fiercest sort of fate.

THE DAILY CHIT CHAT

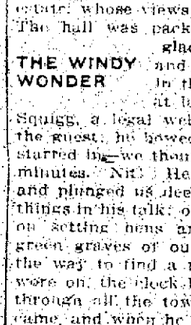
BY RUTH CAMERON

"I don't see how I ever shall stand the cold weather. I actually had all the bed clothes that I use in winter on my bed last night and I was hardly warm enough!"

The speaker held out her hands to the open fire and shivered as if it were January instead of October.

"That," said the lady-who-always-knows-somehow, "is what everyone says every fall. You hear more complaining of the cold weather in the first cold snap of the fall, than you do on the coldest day in midwinter. It's all in getting used to it, I think. When I find myself wondering in the fall how I'm going to stand the cold, I always remind myself that I felt just that way last fall and that as soon as I got used to the cold, I didn't mind it a bit and even liked it."



How much "getting used to it" does have to do with standing the cold weather—and incidentally, many other things.

When the first cold snap comes, those of us who are not by nature cold weather fiends, shiver in our boots and say something like the complaint I quoted at the beginning.

But by the time the real cold weather has come we have forgotten all about our inability to endure it. We just take it as a matter-of-fact or even enjoy it once we "get used to it."

And how many changes, how many unwelcome conditions, how many difficult situations, which at first we do not see how we can endure, are likewise metamorphosed by the slow magic of "getting used to it."

"A year after I was married my husband's business changed," says a beautiful middle-aged woman, "and much against my will, I moved a thousand miles from my old home. It seemed to me at first that I simply couldn't stand the change. I hated everything about that new home. I hated the people and the shops and the cars and every little thing. But I've moved back to my original home now and I can look back over everything with an impartial eye, and I must honestly say that the years I spent in the home of my adoption were the happiest years of my life."

Happiness often wears strange disguises at first and needs "getting used to it" to tear off the mask.

The lady-who-always-knows-somehow said, "When I find myself wondering in the fall how I'm going to stand the cold, I always remind myself that I felt just that way last fall and that as soon as I got used to the cold I didn't mind it a bit and even liked it."

It seems to me that he has mastered one of the greatest lessons in life who has learned, whenever he faces some condition that seems imendurable, to remind himself in similar fashion, how bravely he learned to endure or even to like some other unendurable condition.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 3, 1861

Ladies of Springfield, Mo., presented a flag to the Prairie Scouts. Maj. Frank J. White. They expressed an intention of presenting a similar flag to General Fremont's bodyguard, but the favor was declined. Major Zagonyi, writing for the guard, informed the ladies that the honor was rendered useless by its being at the same time conferred on the scouts. No fatalities were reported.

Lieut. Alfred Kantz, late of the steamer Flag, who was taken prisoner by the Confederates and had been held at Richmond, reached Washington under parole, to arrange for the exchange of Federal prisoners at Richmond.

Gen. David Hunter assumed full command of Federal forces lately under General Fremont.

Disease and Its Cure

By EDDY WOLFF.

TYPHOID FEVER

Typhoid fever is caused by a germ. It is one of the most serious diseases with which mankind has to contend.

The germ enters the system through the mouth. In every case where the disease can be traced, it is found that it has entered the stomach through the food or through the water.

As soon as the germ enters the stomach it follows the food into the intestines. There it breeds and spreads throughout the intestines, the stomach and to nearly all the mucous membranes of the body.

The symptoms of typhoid fever are headache, dizziness, weakness, depression and a high fever. In many cases the fever will jump at once to 102 to 103 degrees. The patient often becomes delirious.

Medical science has no means of curing typhoid fever. Treatment is confined to stimulating the heart and keeping up the patient's strength.

At the very least, typhoid fever will run for a period of three weeks. If this time is passed it will endure for six weeks.

Great care must be exercised during convalescence not to overfeed the patient for fear of a relapse.

Typhoid fever can be avoided by drinking pure water, or water that has been boiled, and in using only such food as will be cooked to kill the germs.

THE VALUE OF PERSISTENCY

An example of the quality of persistency is given in the following, taken from a speech by Otto H. Kahn on E. H. Harriman, in New York, January 25, 1911.

"It was in 1894 that I first met Mr. Harriman, who was then in his 47th year, but my first vivid impression of him dates back to a hot summer afternoon in 1897, when, looking pale, weary and tired out, he came into my firm's office to induce us to take an interest with him in a certain business. We did not particularly care for it, and told him that we preferred not to join in the transaction. He argued to convince us of its merits, and, finally not having made any headway, he desisted. I thought he had accepted our declination. He got up to go, but turned around at the door and said:

"I am dead tired this afternoon, and no good any more. I have been on this job uninterruptedly all day, taking no time even for luncheon. I'll tackle you again tomorrow, when I am fresh. I'm bound to convince you, and to get you to come along."

He did. He came again the next day, and finally we yielded to the sheer persistency of the man, and to the lucidity of his arguments. It is worth mentioning, by the way, that his judgment was right; the business turned out very well.

Not infrequently he would come to meetings at which 10 or 12 men sat around the table with him—men, too, of no mean standing in the business community—a large majority of whom were opposed to the measures he would propose. Yet, I know of hardly an instance of any importance where his views did not prevail finally, and, what is more, generally by unanimous vote. If he did not succeed in what he had set himself to achieve at the first attempt, or the second, or the third attempt, he would retreat for a while, but he never gave up, he moved on towards the attainment of his object, undismayed, resourceful, relentless as fate, with that supreme patience which, according to Disraeli, is "a necessary ingredient of genius."

When Mr. Ryan bought the control of the Equitable Life Assurance society, Mr. Harriman claimed to share in the purchase. Mr. Ryan refused positively and publicly. For five years nothing more was heard of the matter, and even Mr. Harriman's intimate associates believed he had dropped the idea. Only a short while ago it became known that a year before his death Mr. Harriman had finally succeeded in his object, having purchased from Mr. Ryan one-half of his holdings.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

November 3, 1881.

Seventy-five men were at work grading the line of the Denver & New Orleans railroad through the Randall ranch, about 12 miles east of the city. This is the old line of the Colorado & Southern.

The D. & R. G. railroad was said to have over 100 employes in Colorado Springs. The general offices of the road were here at that time.

The First National bank sent $4,100 in mutilated bills to Washington for redemption.

Manager Bosworth of the Western Union Telegraph company estimated that there were 30 telegrams passing between this city and Denver, daily.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

November 3, 1891.

Benjamin W. Steele, editor of The Gazette, died. Mr. Steele came to Colorado Springs from Haverhill, Mass., in 1877, and, soon after his arrival, was made editor of The Weekly Gazette. When The Daily Gazette was started, the following year, it was under Mr. Steele's management, and remained so up to the time of his death. Mr. Steele was prominent in civic affairs and was popular with all with whom he came in contact.

This was election day. In Colorado, J. C. Helm, Republican, was elected chief justice of the supreme court, over L. M. Goddard, Democrat, this being the only state office to be filled. The entire Republican ticket was elected in El Paso county. John Cochran was elected district attorney; J. C. Woodbury, county commissioner; F. W. Howbert, county clerk; M. P. Bowers, sheriff; W. D. Marlow, coroner; H. C. McCreery, treasurer; J. I. Jackson, superintendent of schools; Delos Durfee, surveyor; M. B. Irvine, assessor; Charles W. Walker, justice of the peace, and J. W. Chapman, constable.

Major McKinley, who subsequently became president, was elected governor of Ohio by a plurality of about 20,000.

The Australian ballot was used for the first time in Colorado, with great success.

The De La Vergne Furniture company had a grand opening in their new store at 120-122 South Tejon street, just north of the Alamo hotel.

Seven Famous Exiles

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 5—NAPOLEON BONAPARTE

When the tide of war, which Napoleon had urged from the Rhine to the Moskwa, rolled back upon him, and he had to contend for his life and his crown in the fertile plains of his much-loved France, he still displayed that consummate military skill which had procured for him the title of the "first captain of the age." He was, however, compelled to yield to the force of circumstances and exchange the crown of imperial France for the petty sovereignty of the Island of Elba. After a few month of dignified exile he returned to France, and although attended by only a few hundred followers he marched in triumph to Paris and reascended the throne. Europe, to whom his name was still formidable, armed against him; he prepared to resist the formidable confederation, but it was too powerful for him and the battle of Waterloo decided the fate of Napoleon and of Europe.

After this last fatal struggle Napoleon returned to the capital, but France was no longer faithful to him and he was deserted.

The sensation excited in the little interesting colony of St. Helena on the arrival of this extraordinary guest may be more easily imagined than described. Curiosity, astonishment and interest combined to rouse the inhabitants from their habitual tranquillity into a state of busy activity and inquisitive solicitude.

The inhabitants of St. Helena were disappointed of the gratification which they anticipated from witnessing the arrival of this illustrious exile. He eluded their gaze by landing under the cloud of night.

At an early hour of the following morning Bonaparte, accompanied by Sir George Cockburn, ascended the mountain on horseback to Longwood, where the English government had commenced erecting a suitable house for his future residence.

About a mile from Jamestown, and midway up the mountain, stands the country house of a most respectable man, and a merchant of the island, Mr. Balcombe. It is named "The Briars" and is situated on a level spot, which might almost be imagined to have been formed by art in the steep ascent. It occupies about two acres, and it is bountifully supplied with water, by whose irrigating influence a pleasing and contrasted scene of vegetation, enriched by fruit trees, has been produced, and seems, as it were, suspended between the heights above and the depths below. Here Napoleon, on his descent from Longwood, was induced to call; and such was the hospitable importunity of the amiable master of the mansion that he relinquished his intention of returning to the valley.

On an elevated mound about 50 yards from the house is a Gothic building having one room below and two small apartments above. This cottage Napoleon chose for his residence till Longwood could be completed. There was no choice in the arrangement of this confined abode. The ground floor was, of course, occupied by the exile, while De las Cases, with his son, who was a page and the valet in waiting, were to possess the upper story.

For some months previous to the death of this illustrious exile, which took place on the 5th of May, 1821, he took little exercise, but principally devoted his time to writing or dictating to his secretary. His last illness was only of six weeks' duration, but it was so powerful as nearly to reduce him to a skeleton.

During the latter part of his illness Napoleon frequently conversed with his medical attendants on its nature, of which he seemed to have been perfectly aware. He declared that it was hereditary and that his father had died of the same complaint. Until within a few hours of his death he continued to give directions about his affairs and papers. One trait of character displayed itself in his last moments, which showed the "Ruling passion strong in death."

When Napoleon found his end rapidly approaching, he begged to be dressed in his full uniform, with boots and spurs, and placed on a favorite camp bed on which he was accustomed to sleep when in health and which he preferred to every other. Thus habited he who once had ruled the world bade the world adieu. His last words were "Mon fils," and he afterwards imperfectly articulated, "Tete d'armee" and "France." His last moments were cheered by the faithful attention of General Bertrand and his lady, Count Montholon, and such of his suite as had preserved their attachment, to their master in the lowest of his fortunes—his exile.

TREATIES, BACKED BY FORCE, NO GOOD

Roosevelt Declares "Paper Agreements" Are of No Value Whatever

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Theodore Roosevelt has an article on "Arbitration, Pretense and Reality," in the current number of the Outlook. It says in part:

"Surely the real friends of peace in this country ought to be able to profit by the events that have happened in China and in the Mediterranean during these very fall months since the arbitration treaty was considered in the senate.

"During these months we have seen a widespread revolt in China with utter disorganization of the empire and we have seen war unexpectedly break out between Italy and Turkey. In China there has doubtless been much excuse for the revolt because of tyranny and misgovernment and this tyranny and misgovernment have been greater than in any really civilized nation, although the Chinese are far more unwarlike than any civilized nation, and have an army very much less efficient than that of any civilized power.

"As for the war between Italy and Turkey, I am not now concerned with its ethical justification. Personally, I believe that it is in the interest of humanity that Tripoli should fall under European control, just as it is in the interest of humanity that Morocco shall so fall; just as it has been of immeasurable benefit to mankind and especially to Algerian and Egyptian mankind, that Algeria and Egypt should fall under the control of France and of England.

"But this is not the point. The point is that this war proves the utter inefficiency of paper treaties when they are backed by force; the utter folly of those who believe that these paper treaties accomplish any useful purpose in the present stage of the world's development when there is no force behind them; and, finally, not merely the folly but the iniquity of making treaties which there is no real intention of putting into effect.

"Turkey's treaties with various European powers explicitly guarantee her integrity and on the mere technical legalities of the case, no court of arbitration in the world could possibly declare in any other way than as against Italy and for Turkey if the case at issue between them were brought to arbitration."

NEGRO SLAYER ACQUITTED

Jury Upholds "Unwritten Law" in Case of Denver Man Who Killed Colored Preacher

DENVER, Nov. 2.—James J. Manuel was acquitted by a jury in the west side court this morning of the murder of Rev. Alexander Edwards, negro pastor of the Central Baptist church, whom he shot to death on the evening of August 29, following disclosures made to him by the minister and his wife concerning meretricious relations existing between Edwards and Mrs. Manuel. The trial was begun Monday and the closing arguments made at a late hour Wednesday evening. When the jury did not return a verdict at once the court announced they would reserve their finding until this morning. The court room was packed with expectant negroes at an early hour for the case has been one of great moment and absorbing interest among the colored population. When the jury filed in and the clerk read the words, "not guilty," the place broke into such an uproar of applause as to drown for a minute the bailiff's orders for silence. Court adjourned and negro men and women fairly overran the smiling Manuel with their smiling demonstrative congratulations.

"I thought it surely would be like this," said he, quietly. "I feel good about it, and I'm going over now to get my clothes."

The man almost ran toward the jail in his glad haste.

The negroes who have been in constant attendance upon the trial and are for the greater number members of the Central Baptist congregation, expressed uniform gratification at the verdict.

Not self-defense, but the "unwritten law"—the theory that a man's home is his castle and that, whether black or white, he has the right to defend the sanctity and safety of that home even to taking of human life—formed the basis of the appeal made to the jury in the west side court by Attorney O. N. Hilton, counsel for Manuel.

Manuel, who holds the office of noble grand in the order of Negro Odd Fellows, killed the minister following disclosures made to him about Edwards, at the instigation of his wife, who had spied upon his movements for months. The disclosures were made on August 29, at the Manuel home and later in the evening following a second discussion of the liaison at the Edwards home, in which Manuel and his wife and mother-in-law and Edwards and his wife participated. Manuel shot the preacher to death. His plea of self-defense was based on the alleged fact that Edwards grappled with him, but Attorney Hilton made but little more than passing reference to that point.

"A man's home is his castle," he said, "no matter how humble it is. And a king may not cross the threshold with impunity, if his motives be wrong. This man Edwards was Manuel's best and most respected friend."

BETRAYED HIS CHILDLIKE FAITH, SAYS L. O'N. BROWN

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Attorney John J. Healy, of counsel for the committee of United States senators investigating the Lorimer case, intimated today that certain witnesses were consulting with each other and framing testimony to conceal facts in the inquiry.

George W. Meyers, former state representative testified that he was asked to vote for Lorimer but refused. He said Lee O'Neil Browne told him that "there were a lot of good state jobs and plenty of the ready necessary behind Lorimer."

Brown was a witness late today before the committee.

"A childlike faith in the tenets of friendship and a lack of knowledge of the devious ways of politics," said Brown, "led me to believe that Speaker Shurtleff favored me as a minority leader of the Forty-sixth general assembly. I have heard since, however, that he feared that with my 64 followers and conditions as they were on the Republican side, I might become the real speaker of the house."

Springs Widow Weds Wealthy Chicago Man

Special to The Gazette.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Mae Quinn Wilson, a Colorado Springs widow who was married at the home of her friends, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sherman Robinson, at their Long Island villa Saturday evening with a church service in the Congregational church of that village by the pastor, the Rev. L. H. Johnson, to John G. Harvey, retired millionaire manufacturer and widower of Chicago, was treated to a novel reception all Halloween night at the Robinson home. The bride and groom were given by neighbors a friendly sample of the old-fashioned charivari, including horse fiddles, cow bells, tin horns and fire crackers. After the "horning" a feast was served in the villa. The romance between the two began at Catalena, Cal., where all parties named happened to meet while touring. After a few weeks with the Robinsons the couple will leave for their home in Chicago.

Mrs. Wilson is known to many residents of Colorado Springs. For a number of years she was with the Wilbur Suit and Cloak company in the capacity of buyer.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK Nov 2 The advance in stocks, which proceeded vigorously yesterday, was continued during the greater part of today's trading. Prices of most of the active stocks were elevated a point or two after an early period of hesitation

The market, later in the afternoon, broke, losing the greater part of the day's gain Some of the active issues, including United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, St. Paul, the Hill stocks, Reading, and Canadian Pacific closed with small net losses

American Smelting was conspicuously strong It rose 3⅝ points to 68¾ On Monday this stock sold at 59¾. The demand for this stock was steady and heavy. Although it sold off with the market, late in the day, it quickly rebounded.

The extensive rise in this issue seemed to be due largely to the rout of the short interest, which is reported to have reached unusually large proportions

Trading on the United States was on a considerably smaller scale The industrials, as a whole, showed more instances of pronounced strength than did the railroad list, owing, perhaps to the frequency of reports of improving trade conditions.

Three steel plants in the Pittsburg district, it was announced, would resume operations on Monday Gross earnings of 37 railroads for the last week of October showed an increase of 2 44 per cent.

Money rates were somewhat easier today The banks thus far have lost $6,362,000.

Bonds were firm Total sales, par value, $4,524,000

United States bonds declined ⅛ on call

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Nov 2 Twice today the wheat market broke more than 1c a bushel in a few minutes. The selling stampedes resulted from nervousness about reports of a federal inquiry into big cash wheat accumulations here and elsewhere The close was weak and ran from last night's figures to ⅞c below Corn showed a net decline of ⅞@1c to 1⅛c and oats ⅛ to ¼c At the close, hog products varied from 2½@5c lower to 5c higher

The most abrupt and hardest fall in wheat took place just before the last gong A strong recovery had been in progress for hours when suddenly pit traders became frightened at supposed signs of liquidation on the part of bull leaders Almost instantaneously offerings became wildly urgent on every side and there was a nearly vertical descent from the top to the bottom prices of the day Causes contributing to the weakness were big receipts in the northwest and generally favorable weather in the winter wheat country No 2 red winter was vainly offered in unlimited quantities at 2c under December That month fluctuated from 95⅛ to 96⅞c and closed at 95¾ a net loss of ⅞c.

Clear cold weather, increasing marketings and improving the condition and quality of corn made the market for that cereal heavy. December ranged from 61⅞ to 63⅛c, closing 1@1⅛ down at 62c Cash grades were fairly steady. No 2 yellow was quoted at 74¼@¾c

Oats fluttered erratically trying to follow the price changes in wheat and corn High and low levels for the December delivery were 46¼@48 and 45¾ with last sales 45¾ a fall of ⅛c from 24 hours before

In provisions there was free selling by local and foreign holders In the end prices averaged just about the same as last night

JEALOUSY MAY HAVE BEEN MURDER MOTIVE

CHICAGO, Nov 2—Possibility that jealousy might have been a motive in the death of Arthur Bissonette a policeman, today proved a new factor in the investigation that is being conducted by the coroner and the police department The belief that he was engaged to Mrs Louise Vermilya, with whom he boarded, was shattered by the filing of the patrolman's will, showing Miss Lydia Rivard, a daughter of a farmer of Marshall, Minn, as his fiancee and the chief beneficiary under the document.

Although Mrs. Vermilya's name appeared on the will as a witness, she denied that she knew anything of it and said Miss Rivard had appeared in Bissonette's life years before and had been forgotten by the policeman.

Whether or not action will be taken against Mrs Vermilya and a further investigation conducted into eight other deaths that have occurred in her circle of immediate associates will not be determined until tomorrow At that time toxicologists who are examining Bissonette's viscera will make their report to the coroner

Although Mrs Vermilya is under close guard of two policemen both the police and coroner admit they have no evidence on which to arrest her

Coroner Hoffman has announced however that if he finds evidence that Bissonette was poisoned he will cause to be exhumed some of the other bodies and will order the immediate arrest of the woman Statements previously made by her are now believed to be untrustworthy.

A BOLD STEP

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broad-cast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines.

Thus Dr. Pierce has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits and placed them in a class all by themselves by making them remedies OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same.

From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, overworked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

CONCERNING SNAKES

From the London Globe.

There are few living creatures which stir the feelings so much as the snakes These feelings may consist of fear or admiration or both, but the sight of a snake causes a certain thrill to run through most of us, owing in some measure to a sense of mystery about the creature and to its isolation in nature Indeed the very place of the snake in zoology has not been determined, for their nearest relatives today are the lizards and tortoises, but these are not near relations, and we can only surmise that they are the degenerate descendants of the saurians, whose limbs have been lost in an adaptation to their habits of creeping through herbage and into holes, only a few members of the race still retaining rudiments of hind limbs bearing claws at the end.

From the earliest times serpents have been the object of worship, traces of which we find among the Egyptians, the Zoroastrians, and the Buddhists: while at the present day certain snakes are thought by the Zulus to be the spirits of their ancestors. The snake has sometimes been considered the incarnation of the spirit of evil, and endless superstitions have gathered round its name. All snakes slough at certain times, a habit found also among the lizards and in a modified form among caterpillars also and in the case of snakes sloughing is so complete that even the eyes cast the outer skin, so that just before the process the snake becomes almost totally blind, as well as deaf. Indeed, his senses are not highly developed on the whole, for his sense of taste is not very keen, which would not be necessary in the case of a creature which bolts its food whole. The only keen perception which reaches the snake therefore comes through his tongue, which he constantly projects, and with which he samples everything, and feels his way.

MINERAL PRODUCTION SECOND ONLY TO AGRICULTURE

Nearly a third of a billion dollars was added to the wealth of the United States from the mineral production of the western states during 1910, according to the figures of the United States geological survey. This includes about $66,000,000 worth of coal the remaining production, principally metals, having a value of practically a quarter of a billion dollars. The total figures of western mineral production as compiled by the survey are $313,944,881 This is about one-fourth the total agricultural production between mineral and agricultural production being about the same as for the entire United States The agricultural production of the western states, derived from figures of the department of agriculture, was approximately $1,394,791,000. The area considered includes the belt from the Dakotas south to Texas and the territory westward

SEATS FOR "SIS HOPKINS"

In "Sis Hopkins," which is now being presented for the thirteenth consecutive season to record-breaking audiences, by Miss Rose Melville, who originated the famous country girl character and gave it to the stage, there is an entirely new "entertainment" scene for the young ladies' seminary commencement. The songs are new and the dancing is delightful. The "pieces" which the girl pupils speak for the benefit of their visiting relatives are characteristic of the country seminary. "Sis Hopkins" comes to the Opera house on Monday night.

Seats will be placed on sale at the Opera house box office this morning. The prices are: Parquet, $1.50; dress circle, $1.00; balcony, 75 cents, and gallery, 50 cents. The popularity of Miss Melville, the well-known merit of her play, and the fact that it is the last tour of Miss Melville in "Sis Hopkins," should create a big demand for seats.

The production of "Sis Hopkins," which will again be seen this season, with Rose Melville, the creator of the Posey county girl, in the title role, will be one of the most picturesque which has ever been given. Mr. J. R. Stirling, Miss Melville's manager, has an unusually strong company in support of his star, and the scenic dress of the piece is new, down to the smallest detail of accessory. The costuming has been made afresh, and there has been introduced into the famous seminary scene some brilliant specialties.

"THE SWEETEST GIRL IN PARIS" SEATS

A company of exceptional merit surrounds Trixie Friganza in the most popular of all La Salle Opera house productions, "The Sweetest Girl in Paris," which comes to the Opera house Tuesday night. In fact, the principals are all playing the original roles which they created at the launching of the piece a year ago last August at the La Salle Opera house in Chicago, and which held the boards in the Windy City for more than 300 performances—the record run of the season. They are a most formidable group of fun-makers, and have done much toward furthering the unprecedented popularity of this show, although "The Sweetest Girl in Paris" represents the finest work of three noted writers. The book is from the pen of Addison Burkhardt, whose most noteworthy work heretofore was "The Runaways," which played throughout the country five consecutive seasons, although Mr. Burkhardt has nearly a dozen musical comedy hits to his credit. The lyrics are from the pen of Collin Davis, who turned "The Three Twins" from a first-night failure into a distinctive success, while the music was all composed by the ever popular Joe Howard, who has written more music that the public loves and whistles than any man in America, and who in the present instance has surpassed his own most widely known previous success, "The Time, the Place and the Girl."

The dramatic portions of the play were produced by Frank Keenan; the noted character actor and former prominent David Belasco star, while the musical numbers were put on by Gus Sohlke, who has more than equalled his work on "The Yama Yama" dance and other numbers in "The Three Twins."

Seats will be placed on sale this morning. The prices are 50c, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00.

THE LORCH BENEFIT

The benefit which is being arranged for Theodore Lorch will be given at the Opera house tomorrow afternoon and evening. The admission is 25 cents in any part of the theater, for either performance.

The program will include the various members of the Lorch Stock company, which recently closed a long stock season at the Opera house; three film subjects and some special acts to be announced later.

Cecil Fay will do a specialty song and dance. James Hawley will give his monologue, which he did in vaudeville for an entire season, with great success. Camille Lewis, George Graves and company will present a one-act playlet. The films to be seen include the world's championship baseball series, showing the games recently played between New York and Philadelphia; a new "Mutt and Jeff" subject; a film showing the parade at the Elks national convention in Los Angeles, last year, and a moving picture reproduction of "Romeo and Juliet."

These films represent the last word in the art of motion pictures. They are secured at a great expense, and will undoubtedly prove to be the finest ever seen in this city.

MISS ROSE MELVILLE.
Miss Melville Is Making Her Farewell Tour in "Sis Hopkins." She Will Be Seen at the Opera House Monday Night in This Comedy in Which She Has Been Seen for 13 Years.

"BABY MINE" COMING

"Baby Mine," Margaret Mayo's laughing success, direct from a run of a solid year at Daly's theater in New York, is announced as the attraction which comes to the Opera house on Thursday night of next week under the management of William A. Brady, Ltd. The success which "Baby Mine" has had in New York is now being duplicated at Sir Charles Criterion theater in London, England. Few comedies are as continuously funny as "Baby Mine" which literally has a "laugh in every line."

How exquisite the pleasure one derives in seeing the roaring comedy "Baby Mine" which has made such a pronounced success in the United States and London. There is an ecstacy that mothers feel as the many amusing conditions and numerous complications come in the play, and the possibilities of which they can understand. The fun and laughter which prevails throughout act like a gleam of sunshine in a low sky on the audience. The complex situations which induce such vehement outbursts of laughter and screams of delight, and the sensational and ludicrous antics of the young husband when he first fondles and talks to his first born, excite the emotion and memory of many who have experienced similar moments.

The play from start to end provokes a shaft of penetrating humor and pleasure. A rightful verdict is that "Baby Mine" is the best comedy ever given. The coming of "Baby Mine" will be peculiarly interesting because it brings several of the well-known players who have been identified heretofore only with the long runs in New York and Chicago. Among them are Earl Mitchell, Clinton Preston, Marjorie Cortland, Jane Carlton, Helena Modjeska Bapport, A. G. Carlton and others.

SCENE FROM "BABY MINE."
This Comedy by Margaret Mayo, Author of "Polly of the Circus," Will Be Seen at the Opera House Thursday Night.

LAST CHANCE TO SEE THIS WEEK'S PROGRAM

This afternoon and evening closes the engagement of a popular bill which has pleased all who have seen it at the Majestic this week. The bill is varied in character and all of the acts are high class. Especially popular is the novel musical and comedy act of Phina and her three pickaninnies, also the singing and jollity of Shriner and Wills, the two college boys, whose good nature catches every audience.

Welda and Serano offer a remarkable hand and head balancing act and the three Pearce Sisters a melange of singing, dancing and comedy that entertains. The Majestiscope as usual has a new, exclusive Rex. "Chasing the Rainbow," as well as a comic, and the bill is completed with a delightful orchestra program. Altogether it provides an hour and a half of the best kind of vaudeville, refined and clever.

Performances at 2:45, 7:30 and 9:10. Admission only 10, 20 and 30 cents.

FEATURE ATTRACTIONS AT MAJESTIC TOMORROW

Once in a great while a bill comes down the vaudeville circuit that includes a couple of great big headliners, either one of which would be big enough and classy enough to "make" the show. The coming week, opening with tomorrow's matinee, such a show is scheduled at the Majestic and Manager Tammen is to be congratulated on having been able to secure such an unusual combination of attractions.

Heading the list come Rice, Hill and Smith's Minstrels, the highest class troupe of blackface men who have ever gone over a vaudeville circuit putting on a minstrel show in miniature—not so small, at that, however, for their act consumes full half an hour and there is not a dull instant in the whole time. A real minstrel show is their offering, and the vocal features rank with any of the achievements of minstrelsy.

Then there is Dan Mason, the inimitable, known as a funmaker of the 18 karat quality. Dan is coming in "The New Chauffeur" which is declared as the funniest thing of the season in playlets. That must be so, if Dan Mason is in it, for he has his pick of them all.

Lew Orth and Lillian will inject some Egyptian atmosphere into the bill with their laughable satire on touring Egypt, and Franz Moisel, the Austrian violinist, will render a repertoire that will be a feast of harmony for the music lover. Both these acts are above the average caliber, making the whole bill one of superior excellence and attractiveness.

The Majestiscope motion picture plays and concert orchestra program are other good things on the list. It is a great bill.

VALUABLE JEWELRY AND FURS IN TENEMENT HOUSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Jewelry, furs, silks and laces valued at $20,000 or more are on exhibition at police headquarters here today, all seized in a single room of a cheap tenement house on the east side occupied by Mrs. San Marco, an elderly foreign woman, under whose bed the searchers also found a stiletto and a revolver.

Persons whose houses have been robbed during the last summer will be invited to examine the collection. The woman is under arrest, charged with receiving stolen property. Many dozen silver spoons and a quantity of other silverware which bore the names of prominent New York jewelers, Mrs. San Marco said she bought at auction sales.

TRAIN HITS HANDCAR KILLING TWO PERSONS

ASHLAND, Maine, Nov. 2.—A railroad superintendent, known as "Tug" Wilson and his wife and son are dead, and his daughter is dying here today, as the result of a collision between a handcar on which they were riding and a special train carrying the private cars of President Cram, of the Bangor & Aroostook. The Wilsons were on their way from a visit to Winterville, 20 miles northeast of here.

BOOT & SHOE WORKERS UNION
UNION STAMP
Factory

¶ Do you realize that this Union should have your good will and co-operation?

¶ The great army of Americans engaged in the making of shoes labored under adverse conditions, unsanitary factories, hours entirely too long, and small remuneration was the rule rather than the exception.

¶ The advent of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union has revolutionized all this. Clean, pure workshops, humane treatment and a living wage has been gained for shoeworkers. Shall this work go on, or shall former conditions prevail?

¶ It is your duty to insist that every pair of shoes you wear bears this label.
